Airborne Command Post System Notes 10th Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force's 1st Airborne Command and Control Squadron waits, as it has for 10 years, for doomsday.

At any hour, day or night, one of its three planes stands fueled and ready for takeoff from a runway only 10 minutes by helicopter from the White House.

Within minutes of alert of impending nuclear attack on the United States, the president and his military command staff could be airborne in one of these flying command posts.

Sophisticated electronics and communications equipment

aboard the plane would enable the president to direct the nation's defense and counter-attack while cruising more than 40,000 feet above the earth.

The president would be in constant touch with U.S. military commands around the world even if the White House or Pentagon were destroyed in the first wave of a surprise nuclear attack.

An underground sanctuary at Ft. Ritchie, Md., in the Catoctin Mountains, serves as an alternate command post. Or, the president could keep his finger on the nuclear trigger at a hardened underground shelter in Virginia, at the headquarters of the North American Air Defense Command buried deep inside Cheyenne Mountain, Colo., or aboard the flying command posts of the Strategic Air Command.

All are part of an elaborate system designed to maintain uninterrupted control of U.S. air, ground and sea forces under all circumstances.

"Silver Dollar," the code name for the three national emergency airborne command planes based at Andrews AFB, Md., marks its 10th anniversary of operation this year.

Its planes are converted four-engine KC-135 tankers, derived from the commercial Boeing 707 jetliner, which are capable of staying aloft for several days.

Although never used in a real emergency, the planes have piled up thousands of flying hours in simulated alerts.

The Pentagon says the planes are getting old and are too small for the improved electronics computers and communication equipment that has come along in recent years. It wants them replaced with a fleet of seven bigger and more costly Boeing 747 jumbo jets.

FBI Chief Out After Election?

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Tribune says it has learned from administration sources that J. Edgar Hoover will be dismissed as director of the FBI after the November presidential election.

The Washington dispatch in today's editions written by Glen Elssasser, said that "according to high Nixon administration sources, Hoover will either resign or be put into a 'chairman of the board' kind of job at the FBI."

Hoover, 77, begins his 49th year as FBI director in May.

"Hoover will not be allowed to stay as long as he wants," the story quoted one administration official as saying.

Pullout Date Push Continues

Antiwar Senators Won't Change Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate war critics say they will continue to push for a fixed date for total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina despite President Nixon's effort to defuse the war as a political issue.

Taken somewhat by surprise by Nixon's disclosure Tuesday night of secret U.S.-North Vietnamese peace efforts, many conceded the President's speech will have a favorable political impact, at least over the short run.

But, in a series of statements and interviews Wednesday, they said Nixon's plan fails to set a specific date for U.S. withdrawal and risks North Vietnamese rejection by linking the U.S. pullout to a cease-fire throughout Indochina and release of American prisoners.

"North Vietnam is not likely to accept his proposals, and I do not recommend our people place too much hope in this," said Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La.

Ellender, who has opposed congressional efforts to set a fixed withdrawal date, thus agreed with Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Foreign Relations Committee, a supporter of a fixed date.

Fulbright's comment: "I don't think we're going to get anywhere under this formula."

Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, said in an interview that "when I first heard it on the news, it sounded pretty good. On close inspection, it didn't turn out that way."

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., who had predicted a major administration move some 24 hours before Nixon spoke, foresaw "a growing movement here in Congress to get a date certain" unless the President takes further peace steps, possibly after his later-February visit to Mainland China.

Stans Resigns Commerce Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today personally announced the resignation of Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans, and named as his successor the President's current international economic policy adviser, Peter G. Peterson.

Stans is stepping out to work in Nixon's re-election campaign as he did in 1968.

Nixon said he is staying out of partisan politics until after the Republican National Convention, but Stans will be "chancellor of the exchequer of one of the two major parties."

In his letter of resignation Stans, 63, told Nixon "I am resigning to assist in the campaign for your re-election, and I believe that in this way I can best serve the interests of the country in 1972."

It was a three-way switch of top officials. The President also announced that his current presidential assistant, Peter Flanigan, a 48-year-old former New Yorker, will move into Peterson's spot as executive director on the President's Council of International Economic Policy.

Nixon called Stans "one of my closest personal as well as political friends" and said he had "served splendidly" as Commerce secretary, a post Stans held for the past three years.

Nixon said he has known Stans in the Eisenhower administration and through several of his own political campaigns and predicted he would be "as successful as he has always been in handling fund-raising."

3 Make Escape From Ohio Pen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Suburban Grandview police today captured one of three Ohio Penitentiary inmates who climbed over the prison's ancient walls Wednesday night in the first such escape in the prison's 109-year history.

Police said they found James Lewis, 33, in a wooded area in Grandview on the northwest edge of downtown Columbus.

He was taken to the prison hospital to be checked for possible exposure in the 16-degree cold.

Prison warden Harold Cardwell said he had a witness to the escape.

Three convict plumbers crawled through a ventilating system to the prison roof and slid down 50-feet of braided wire, using their clothes to protect their hands.

"A witness claimed he saw a guy come down off the wall at 7:58 p.m.," Cardwell said. "He's a doctor here. I don't have his name but we pretty well tied down the escape to that time."

"The men were checked at 7 p.m. so they had 58 minutes to work out"

"No one has been under or over these walls successfully since Gen. Morgan did it," Cardwell said. He referred to Confederate Gen. John Morgan who tunneled out of the prison in 1863.

Cardwell said some convicts have fled through an escape-tunnel used for railroad coal cars and that one man attempted to go down the wall about 20 years ago but fell, was injured and captured on the spot.

The bold escape came a few hours after two trusty inmates walked away from prison jobs and three days after three inmates failed in an attempt to scale the wall with a ladder.

The successful breakout took place along the front of the building adjacent to administrative offices. The escapees came down on the prison parking lot.

"It's the only spot on the wall where guards can't see everything that occurs," Cardwell said.

The escapees were identified as: —Gilbert Mannis, 33 who has been serving a life sentence for murder from Stark County since 1967.

—Donald Ferdinand, 34, who entered the penitentiary last year on a 10-25 year term for assault and armed robbery following convictions in Franklin and Cuyahoga counties.

—James Lewis, 33, who has been serving a 20-year term for bank robbery in Toledo since 1969.

L. G. Ridenour, assistant to Warden Harold Cardwell, said the men were plumbers in the institution and had been working on a water pipe break when they made their escape.

He said they apparently went through a ventilating system, kicked out some louvers, walked across a roof to the wall and lowered themselves to the ground with the three-strand rope at a "strategic point" on the wall.

There are no guard towers near that point, located near the administration building.

Just prior to the 9 p.m. headcount, Ridenour said, the guard in the cellblock where the three

Job Bias Order Signed By Governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan signed an executive order on equal employment opportunity today and directed employment of a coordinator to enforce it.

The order calls for elimination of discriminatory employment practices among contractors doing business with the state.

Terminating it "an historic" executive order, the governor said the policy of his administration and Ohio is "unequivocally one of non-discrimination and equal opportunity for all its citizens without regard to race, color, national origin ancestry or sex."

Contractors involved in state supported or assisted construction contracts are the subjects of the order. It basically requires non-discrimination in all state involved contracts.

It also sets out model regulations in the Department of Public Works the major contracting agency for state construction.

The order requires contractors with 50 or more employees and a state-involved contract of $50,000 or more "to develop an affirmative action program designed to assure equal employment opportunity to overcome the under-utilization of minority group members."

Gilligan said the order was prompted by recent litigation which indicated shortcomings in Ohio law involving nondiscrimination where state funds are involved.

Claim 107 Viet Reds Slain; Tank Story Now Said False

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese command today claimed 107 enemy killed in an upsurge of fighting across the country.

The command also admitted having erred in reporting Wednesday that four North Vietnamese tanks were destroyed by South Vietnamese planes in the central highlands.

The vehicles were trucks, not tanks, a spokesman said.

But a field report from the highlands today said one tank had in fact been knocked out, along with three trucks, inside the South Vietnamese border Wednesday.

The U.S. Command reported that five Americans were wounded by a booby trap while on patrol south of Da Nang. A spokesman said the GIs, members of the 196th Infantry Brigade, were patrolling less than a mile from their battalion headquarters, 10 miles south of Da Nang, when one stepped on a "pressure type" booby trap.

The command, amplifying an earlier account, reported that a U.S. district adviser was killed in the Mekong Delta Tuesday when a motorboat was ambushed by Viet Cong troops hiding along the bank of a canal.

The Vietnamese district chief also was killed. The two were inspecting security posts in Ba Xuyen Province.

Air strikes were credited with at least 40 of the enemy soldiers killed in fighting Wednesday.

The Saigon command said 25 enemy soldiers were killed, 20 of them by air strikes, after two government platoons discovered a company-size base camp 13 miles southeast of Tan Canh, in the central highlands.

In the other encounters, 20 enemy were killed by air attacks near Cai Lay District town, 45 miles south of Saigon, and 22 others in several clashes northwest of Saigon.

Five South Vietnamese were reported killed and nine wounded in the actions, military sources said.

The highlands fighting occurred about 10 miles from where two trucks, first identified as tanks, were reported to have been knocked out.

POW Interrogation Brings Report Of Red Offensive

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. interrogators quote Communist prisoners as saying they were told to prepare for a two-stage winter-spring offensive starting with small attacks and escalating to major blows at South Vietnamese cities and towns.

These reports are regarded by U.S. military analysts as additional indications of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong plans to strike in South Vietnam during the weeks ahead.

Although some aspects of the reports are discounted by U.S. officials, other points are taken seriously when meshed with various indicators of enemy troop buildups in key areas.

Captured officers said they were briefed in recent weeks on plans for an offensive aimed at stopping the South Vietnamese Army, and so discouraging the present Saigon regime that it would accept a coalition government with the Communists.

According to interrogation reports, Viet Cong soldiers and officers taken prisoner said they were told the first phase of the offensive would run through most of February and would feature small-scale assaults on militia units and South Vietnamese Army outposts to test their strength.

From then to May, enemy main-force units would mount widespread major attacks throughout South Vietnam, it was said.

As in other intelligence reports, the provincial capital city of Kontum in the Central Highlands was mentioned as a probable focus of enemy attacks.

Prisoners also say that Hoi An near the coast south of Da Nang was mentioned as a target, as were refugee camps.

In addition to reported concentrations of North Vietnamese troops in position to strike from Laos and Cambodia, it was reported that the enemy command was implanting new hard-core Viet Cong leaders throughout South Vietnam to replace ineffective cadres and V. C. stalwarts who had been rooted out in government pacification operations.

The most-persistent evaluation by U.S. authorities is that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong will center their attacks on selected objectives for maximum effect on the American public and the Saigon government.

Officials say the North Vietnamese still lack enough supplies to mount a sustained offensive.

Morrow Police Chief Given Suspension

MORROW, Ohio (AP) — Morrow Police Chief Jack Cannava was suspended from duty Wednesday by Mayor Paul Mitten on undisclosed charges.

Mayor Mitten and the chief both said they had agreed not to divulge the charges until a hearing Feb. 1.

Real Estate Appraisal Catch Noted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio legislators learned Wednesday that counties failing to comply with a Board of Tax Appeals ruling to appraise all real estate at 35 per cent of market value face loss of half of their state school foundation and local government funds.

But James Ducey, a board spokesman, told a combined meeting of the House and Senate Ways and Means committees that withholding of the state money could be avoided by legislative action.

Under present law, Ducey said, "If a county doesn't comply within 90 days, 50 per cent of its school foundation money and 50 per cent of its local government money would have to be withheld."

The legislators, who are studying a way of keeping counties from either reaping a windfall or losing money because of the ruling, were surprised by the information.

The Board of Tax Appeals ruling followed an Ohio Supreme Court order to set a uniform assessment rate for all of Ohio's 88 counties.

The board set the percentage at 35 per cent after discussing the possibility of making it 40 or 30 per cent, Ducey said.

Ice Storm Possible

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The National Weather Service says that ice storm or freezing rain and drizzle warnings are in effect for portions of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

Hazardous driving warnings also have been issued for northern Arkansas and a travelers warning has been issued for southern Illinois.

Freezing drizzle already has created extremely hazardous driving conditions in portions of Oklahoma and Kansas and freezing drizzle now extends into western Missouri.

The Weather Service said the storm system was caused by very cold arctic air and warns of cold wave conditions likely tonight over widespread sections of the Midwest along with a heavy snow watch.

Link With Alleged Mafia Figure Clouds Lindsay Hopes

By JEAN HELLER and MARK BROWN

Associated Press Writers
NEW YORK (AP) — A national labor leader identified as a New York Mafia figure has woven a web of political involvement that stretches from the Democratic clubs of Brooklyn to the office of mayor and presidential hopeful John V. Lindsay.

Anthony M. Scotto, 37, identified in 1969 by the Justice Department as a captain in Carlo Gambino's Mafia family, has been turning up in Lindsay's administration since the mayor was first elected in 1965.

Lindsay, who quit the Republican party last August, and now is running for the Democratic presidential nomination, declined requests for an interview. But in replying to written questions submitted to his office, he said the identification of Scotto as a Mafia figure "was only an allegation for which no proof whatsoever was offered."

"Mr. Scotto is an important labor leader in the city," Lindsay said. "The mayor's office and the city administration have a good working relationship with him and his union."

Scotto, a vice president of the International Longshoremen's Association and president of its largest local, 1814 in Brooklyn, also helped Lindsay form a new political party in 1969 and win an uphill battle for re-election.

Shortly thereafter, the city's budget was amended to allocate $9 million to a long-dormant project for construction of a facility to handle container cargo on the Brooklyn docks controlled by Scotto's union. Container cargo—multiple shipments in a single container—is an innovation that speeds up cargo handling.

The project is desperately needed in Brooklyn which has been losing shipping business for years because dock facilities are outdated. Yet it did not get its first funds until 1970, six years after the project was proposed.

In an interview, Scotto indicated his 1969 campaign support for Lindsay hinged at least in part on getting the dock project out of mothballs.

"We're having a problem with our side of the waterfront," Scotto said. "The piers are degenerating. Lindsay made some commitments about revitalization of the port and it appears he is keeping them."

Organized-crime strike forces in Brooklyn and Manhattan have tried to make cases against Scotto involving misuse of union funds and failure to report possible conflicts of interest, but he has never been indicted or even arrested. He denied allegations of Mafia ties.

Scotto's identification as a Mafia captain was made public in 1969 when Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell released an organizational chart of the Gambino family to Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate subcommittee on organized crime. McClellan put it in the Congressional Record.

That same year Scotto actively supported Lindsay's re-election bid and helped him form the Independent Party which gave Lindsay a second line on the mayoral ballot and drew 140,000 votes—77 per cent of his margin of victory.

Within a year the Brooklyn container port project got its

$9-million boost from the city when funds were taken from a passenger-terminal project on the Manhattan docks controlled by ILLA President Thomas "Teddy" Gleason, an arch-rival of Scotto's and a campaign supporter of Lindsay's chief 1969 mayoral opponent, Democrat Mario Procaccino.

Scotto began to emerge as a major power in New York in 1963 when he inherited ILLA Local 1814 from his father-in-law, Anthony "Tough Tony" Anastasia, brother of the late Albert Anastasia of Murder, Inc.

$200,000 In Ransom Recovered

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — A stocky gunman who hijacked a jet airliner and its crew for a $200,000 ransom was shot and killed by an FBI agent today. The hijacker was killed with a shotgun blast after he got into a waiting getaway car when the plane landed.

At one point during the 10-hour drama that began Wednesday night at the Westchester County Airport, the hijacker said he intended to make a stewardess parachute from the plane with him.

The hijacker had taken over the Albany-to-New York City flight with a hand gun and claimed to have a bomb.

It was learned only after his death that what he carried was a starter's pistol — and the "bomb" was two water-filled canteens — like Boy Scouts would use.

A sheriff said the canteens were wrapped in pieces of blanket.

After the Mohawk Airlines jet landed at the airport, the hijacker, with the ransom money and his captive stewardess, went to the car he had ordered placed at the end of the run way.

He put the woman in the driver's seat, then went around the rear of the car and got in the passenger seat, at which point an FBI agent approached from the rear, said John Malone, assistant FBI director in charge of the New York City office.

The agent reportedly tapped on the window. The hijacker, Malone said, produced a pistol, whereupon the agent blasted him with a shotgun. The hijacker was identified as a former Peekskill, N.Y., man, Heinrich von George, 45, by the Dutchess County Sheriff's office. Peekskill police said a man by that name moved from there to Canton, Mass., in 1970.

The stewardess, Eileen McAllister, who was unhurt, said the hijacker had kept a gun at her head for seven hours, but she shrugged off a suggestion that hers had been a harrowing ordeal. "I feel fine," she said, "just glad to be here."

An FBI agent described her as "very cool—she played it very cool dealing with this maniac."

The Albany-to-New York flight was hijacked Wednesday night and forced to land at the Westchester County Airport near White Plains, about 60 miles southeast of Poughkeepsie. Poughkeepsie is on the

Nutrition Labels Put On Foods

CINCINNATI (AP) — Kroger Co. supermarkets in southwestern Ohio, northern Kentucky and southeastern Indiana will begin nutritional labeling of some food products Jan. 31.

A total of 66 stores in Cincinnati, Hamilton and Middletown, Ohio; Covington, Newport and Maysville Ky.; and Batesville, Brookville, Aurora, and Lawrenceburg, Ind. will label the foods.

Robert O. Aders, chairman of the board of the Cincinnati-based supermarket chain, said that the labeling will be conducted for three months as part of a test by the Food and Drug Administration of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Hazardous driving warnings also have been issued for northern Arkansas and a travelers warning has been issued for southern Illinois.

Freezing drizzle already has created extremely hazardous driving conditions in portions of Oklahoma and Kansas and freezing drizzle now extends into western Missouri.

The Weather Service said the storm system was caused by very cold arctic air and warns of cold wave conditions likely tonight over widespread sections of the Midwest along with a heavy snow watch.

Airborne Command Post System Notes 10th Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force's 1st Airborne Command and Control Squadron waits, as it has for 10 years, for doomsday.

At any hour, day or night, one of its three planes stands fueled and ready for takeoff from a runway only 10 minutes by helicopter from the White House.

Within minutes of alert of impending nuclear attack on the United States, the president and his military command staff could be airborne in one of these flying command posts.

Sophisticated electronics and communications equipment

aboard the plane would enable the president to direct the nation's defense and counter-attack while cruising more than 40,000 feet above the earth.

The president would be in constant touch with U.S. military commands around the world even if the White House or Pentagon were destroyed in the first wave of a surprise nuclear attack.

An underground sanctuary at Ft. Ritchie, Md., in the Catocin Mountains, serves as an alternate command post. Or, the president could keep his finger on the nuclear trigger at a hardened underground shelter in Virginia, at the headquarters of the North American Air Defense Command buried deep inside Cheyenne Mountain, Colo., or aboard the flying command posts of the Strategic Air Command.

All are part of an elaborate system designed to maintain uninterrupted control of U.S. air, ground and sea forces under all circumstances.

"Silver Dollar," the code name for the three national emergency airborne command planes based at Andrews AFB, Md., marks its 10th anniversary of operation this year.

Its planes are converted four-engine KC-135 tankers, derived from the commercial Boeing 707 jetliner, which are capable of staying aloft for several days.

Although never used in a real emergency, the planes have piled up thousands of flying hours in simulated alerts.

The Pentagon says the planes are getting old and are too small for the improved electronics computers and communication equipment that has come along in recent years. It wants them replaced with a fleet of seven bigger and more costly Boeing 747 jumbo jets.

FBI Chief Out After Election?

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Tribune says it has learned from administration sources that J. Edgar Hoover will be dismissed as director of the FBI after the November presidential election.

The Washington dispatch in today's editions written by Glen Elsasser, said that "according to high Nixon administration sources, Hoover will either resign or be put into a 'chairman of the board' kind of job at the FBI."

Hoover, 77, begins his 49th year as FBI director in May.

"Hoover will not be allowed to stay as long as he wants," the story quoted one administration official as saying.

Berrigan Brother Wins Parole Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antiwar priest Daniel Berrigan has been granted parole after serving just over 17 months of a three-year sentence for destruction of draft records at Cantonville, Md., in 1968.

The U.S. Board of Parole announced the decision Wednesday after its second parole review, which included new information concerning Berrigan's health.

A previous application was denied last August.

Berrigan 51, is the brother of the Rev. Philip Berrigan who, along with six other persons, went on trial Monday in Harrisburg, Pa., on charges of planning to kidnap Henry A. Kissinger, national security affairs adviser to President Nixon.

The Harrisburg indictment also charges Philip and the others with a plan to blow up heating systems in Washington.

Daniel was dubbed the "fugitive priest" in 1970, after he failed to appear to serve the records-destruction sentence. He eluded the FBI for four months, while surfacing occasionally to make public appearances and speak against the Vietnam war. Federal agents arrested him at a private summer home on Block Island, R.I., in August 1970.

No Women In Test For City Inspectors

CINCINNATI (AP) — No women took part in the city's civil service examination for building inspectors Wednesday after the administration opened the jobs to women for the first time at the request of women's liberation groups.

As a result, the city's new 11 inspectors will all be men.

$200,000 In Ransom Recovered

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — A stocky gunman who hijacked a jet airliner and its crew for a $200,000 ransom was shot and killed by an FBI agent today. The hijacker was killed with a shotgun blast after he got into a waiting getaway car when the plane landed.

At one point during the 10-hour drama that began Wednesday night at the Westchester County Airport, the hijacker said he intended to make a stewardess parachute from the plane with him.

The hijacker had taken over the Albany-to-New York City flight with a hand gun and claimed to have a bomb.

It was learned only after his death that what he carried was a starter's pistol — and the "bomb" was two water-filled canteens — like Boy Scouts would use.

A sheriff said the canteens were wrapped in pieces of blanket.

After the Mohawk Airlines jet landed at the airport, the hijacker, with the ransom money and his captive stewardess, went to the car he had ordered placed at the end of the run way.

He put the woman in the driver's seat, then went around the rear of the car and got in the passenger seat, at which point an FBI agent approached from the rear, said John Malone, assistant FBI director in charge of the New York City office.

The agent reportedly tapped on the window. The hijacker, Malone said, produced a pistol, whereupon the agent blasted him with a shotgun. The hijacker was identified as a former Pettskill, N.Y., man, Heinrich von George, 45, by the Dutchess County Sheriff's office. Pettskill police said a man by that name moved from there to Canton, Mass., in 1970.

The stewardess, Eileen McAllister, who was unhurt, said the hijacker had kept a gun at her head for seven hours, but she shrugged off a suggestion that hers had been a harrowing ordeal. "I feel fine," she said, "just glad to be here."

An FBI agent described her as "very cool—she played it very cool dealing with this maniac."

The Albany-to New York flight was hijacked Wednesday night and forced to land at the Westchester County Airport near White Plains, about 60 miles southeast of Poughkeepsie. Poughkeepsie is on the

Nutrition Labels Put On Foods

CINCINNATI (AP) — Kroger Co. supermarkets in southwestern Ohio, northern Kentucky and southeastern Indiana will begin nutritional labeling of some food products Jan. 31.

A total of 66 stores in Cincinnati, Hamilton and Middletown, Ohio; Covington, Newport and Maysville, Ky.; and Batesville, Brookville, Aurora, and Lawrenceburg, Ind. will label the foods.

Robert O. Aders, chairman of the board of the Cincinnati-based supermarket chain, said that the labeling will be conducted for three months as part of a test by the Food and Drug Administration of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Viet Reds Assail Nixon Peace Plan At Paris Meeting

PARIS (AP) — The United States told the Vietnamese Communists today it will not complete withdrawal of its forces from South Vietnam until a final agreement is signed based on all aspects of President Nixon's latest peace proposal.

The Viet Cong responded by assailing the Nixon plan. The North Vietnamese criticized Nixon for disclosing that his adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, had conducted secret talks in Paris with North Vietnam.

The Communists did not use the word rejection in discussing Nixon's proposal and the North Vietnamese said they would have further comment on it.

"We would be willing... once there is over-all agreement in principle, to begin implementing certain military aspects of the agreement, such as those affecting withdrawals and prisoners, while we continued to negotiate on other aspects," said U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter at the 142nd weekly session of the Vietnam peace talks.

"However, in connection with troop withdrawals, I wish to make it clear that although they could start on the date of the agreement in principle, they would not be totally completed before a final agreement on all aspects of the problem is signed."

Before Porter spoke, South Vietnamese negotiator Pham Dang Lam formally presented the eight-point peace plan which President Nixon made public Tuesday night.

North Vietnamese delegate Xuan Thuy told newsmen as he entered the session that Nixon's proposal was "part of his election campaign" and a "smoke-screen" under which he "continues the American war of aggression and threatens new military adventures if we do not accept his eight-point plan."

Nixon said in a television-radio speech that his proposals were submitted to the North Vietnamese in October in secret talks that had been going on in Paris since Aug. 4, 1969. He said the Communists broke off the talks without responding to his plan.

The plan calls for complete withdrawal of American forces from Vietnam six months after a peace agreement, release of all prisoners of war and elections in South Vietnam run by a coalition of all factions and carried out under international supervision.

On Wednesday the North Vietnamese delegation issued a statement saying the Nixon administration had not responded to "two questions fundamental for the just and logical peaceful settlement of the Vietnam problem:

"1. It refused to stop the Vietnamization of the war, to pull out from South Vietnam the totality of U.S. troops, military advisers military personnel armaments and war materials as well as those of the other foreign countries in the U.S. camp to dismantle U.S. military bases in South Vietnam, and to cease all air and naval activities as well as other acts of war against the Vietnamese people in both zones of Vietnam."

"2. It persisted in maintaining the group of Nguyen Van Thieu and refused to give up its commitment to the latter. On the contrary, it sought by every means to impose on the South Vietnamese people the U.S.-created puppet regime, its so-called 'constitution' and its 'laws'."

Nixon told the American public Tuesday night that he decided to publicize the secret talks to counter the repeated North Vietnamese assertions that the United States had not responded to their seven-point peace plan.

Ill-Starred Nursing Home Conditions Said 'Atrocious'

CINCINNATI (AP) — A member of a White House commission late Wednesday described safety conditions as "atrocious" at a nursing home where nine died.

Howard Tipton, executive director of President Nixon's National Fire Prevention and Control Commission charged that the one floor, converted residence made of cinder blocks "should never have been used as a nursing home."

Robert Bland, commission chairman added that he felt the Lincoln Heights and Evendale fire departments did a creditable job fighting the fire.

Bland said President Nixon formed the commission to look into the rising number of multiple deaths in nursing home fires throughout the country. Both men flew back to Washington following their inspection.

Fire officials noted that the Green Nursing Home did not have an automatic sprinkler system nor had any fire drills been conducted by the operators.

"I would not attempt to pinpoint the cause of the fire, because I would not want to encroach on the responsibility of the Ohio State Fire Marshal," said Bland, adding that "the fire started around the furnace in the basement."

Rev. Prentice Brown, president of the Cincinnati Academy of Nursing Homes, and Gary Shepherd, Columbus, director of the Ohio Nursing Home Association, charged that the Lincoln Heights Fire Department took 35 minutes to respond less than a mile to the early morning fire.

Both said lives probably would have been saved. James Brown, Lincoln Heights Safety Director, said the department arrived in 18 minutes. He said they were delayed by an engine breakdown and hampered by water pressure problems with the equipment.

"If Evendale hadn't come, the whole neighborhood would have burned up" said Mrs. Mary Brooks, a neighbor who turned in the first alarm.

Sam Fraley, chief of the Ohio Nursing Home Board of Examiners said the home's license had been renewed Jan. 12, and that the State Fire Marshal's office reported no violations on its inspection April 26, 1971.

Richard Lighner, executive assistant to the State Welfare Director, however, said the Green Nursing home failed "to meet standards for Medicaid and Medicare."

He called it an "intermediate aid facility."

Fred Breyer, Hamilton County Welfare Director, explained that an "intermediate aid home" generally contains ambulatory patients who did not require skilled nursing care.

The ages of the victims were 68-94 and two were blind. A mass, non-denominational service will be held for the victims Friday in Lincoln Heights.

Barge Blast May Bring River Rules

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Cmdr. Bobby Burns of the U.S. Coast Guard Huntington district said Wednesday he believes the Ohio River barge explosions Jan. 7 were a good example of river danger and may lead to recommendations for new federal legislation on river safety.

Burns comments came after the conclusion of three days of hearings into the explosions, which left two men dead and caused more than $1 million in property damage here and across the river in Belpre Ohio.

Burns said, "Our next step is to write up the hearings with my own opinions and recommendations." He said his final report will be available in about three months.

Burns would not give out his opinions pending the release of the report. But Burns said several theories would be considered:

—That the explosion was really a series of ten or more smaller blasts.
—That the two men missing, and presumed dead in the explosion, Joseph Stephens, and his son Charles, are trapped in a wrecked barge still mostly totally submerged in the river channel.

—That the disaster was due to personal error.

Ohio Teacher Saw Soldier On Guam

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati school teacher believes he saw a Japanese soldier in the jungle on Guam in 1969, but government officials would not believe his story nor would they mount a search attempt.

Larry Mayfield, who was teaching U.S. Air Force dependents on the island at the time, recalled the incident Wednesday after reading about a Japanese soldier who had been hiding 28 years on the island after it was recaptured by the Americans during World War II.

Sgt. Shoichi Yokoi, bearded and garbed in clothing woven from tree bark, was found by two hunters near a homemade shrimp trap. Mayfield said the man he saw was also fishing for shrimp near Segua Falls, two miles from where Yokoi was found by two hunters.

"He just appeared out of the jungle," said Mayfield. "He was old, heavily bearded and was wearing clothes fashioned after a Japanese uniform, which gave him the appearance of a washed out soldier."

The man apparently did not speak English. He merely looked at Mayfield, his wife and another couple "glassy eyed" when they invited him to eat. They were on a picnic.

Mayfield said the soldier kept backing away and bowing, then darted into the jungle when Mayfield reached for a camera.

Two Injured, One Cited In City Crash

A one-car accident 11:29 p.m. Wednesday on N. Court St., just south of Wilson Ave., resulted in injury to two persons and the citing of the driver for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Michael A. Augustine, 18, 623 Mowrer Road, suffered injuries, and was cited by Ptl. D. N. Smales, when his southbound auto struck a motel sign on N. Court St.

A passenger in the car, Richard Eugene Olney, 18, 345 Sunnyview Ave., also was injured in the mishap.

Both were taken to Berger Hospital for treatment. Circleville Fire Department was called to the scene to extinguish a blaze that broke out in the auto's electrical system after the crash.

After letting the 42 passengers off, the gunmen kept the pilot, Capt. Carl Rieth, and copilot William O'Hara at bay in the cockpit while he held the stewardess with him in the rear cabin, threatening to blow up the plane if his demands were not met.

For seven tension-filled hours he waited aboard the FH27 twin-engine turbojet while the airline rounded up the money in New York City and had it sent with a police escort to the airport.

He also demanded and got two parachutes, at one point saying he intended to force the stewardess to jump with him. But he later appeared to back away from this threat.

Rieth, who talked with the man over the plane's public address system, said that as the hours wore on the man appeared to be growing edgier.

"He's screaming. He sounds like a madman," Rieth said at one point, he "says he's not only an expert parachutist, he's an expert pilot. He'll put bullets through us and take this crate out of here himself."

When the money finally arrived it was passed into the cockpit and the parachutes were placed aboard through a cargo hatch. "He's giving us two minutes to take off," Rieth radioed the control tower.

Then with lights flashing and wit FBI agents, state troopers and local police watching, the plane took off at 1:59 a.m.

Another Mohawk plane, running without lights, took off to trail the hijacked airliner.

VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball at its very best can be seen tonight at the YMCA from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Conducting the clinic will be the Columbus YMCA's AA Team "The Midwest Team to Beat".

According to Mike Bredoff, coach, in the Midwest there have been only three teams which have reached the finals in major tournaments this season. These are, he said, Kenneth Allen Company of Chicago, Columbus Caps, and the Columbus Central YMCA.

The Kenneth Allen Company won the Toronto Tournament where three Midwestern teams participated. The other tournament, Bredoff said, in which all three competed, in Battle Creek, Michigan, was won by the Columbus Central YMCA Team.

The Columbus YMCA Team also won the Oak Creek, Wisconsin Tournament by defeating the Kenneth Allen Co. in the finals. The Caps did not participate in that tournament the coach said.

The YMCA Team also won a tournament in Knoxville and one in Youngstown. According to Bredoff, the tournament is the only one which they entered but did not win.

In summing up, Bredoff said, presently he has the most valid claim to being "the team to beat" in the Midwest.

Stock List Advances

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, which had retreated in the past six sessions, advanced on a broad front today. Trading was active.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 5.94 at 895.09. Advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts attributed the upturn partly to news today that the government's leading economic indicators rose sharply in December. The gain foreshadowed a strong advance in the economy in coming months, the government said.

Stock gains ran through glimmers, airlines, chemicals, electronics, farm implements, rubber issues and steels. All other groups were mixed.

Ill-Starred Nursing Home Conditions Said 'Atrocious'

CINCINNATI (AP) — A member of a White House commission late Wednesday described safety conditions as "atrocious" at a nursing home here where nine died.

Howard Tipton, executive director of President Nixon's National Fire Prevention and Control Commission charged that the one floor, converted residence made of cinder blocks "should never have been used as a nursing home."

Robert Bland, commission chairman added that he felt the Lincoln Heights and Evendale fire departments did a creditable job fighting the fire.

Bland said President Nixon formed the commission to look into the rising number of multiple deaths in nursing home fires throughout the country. Both men flew back to Washington following their inspection.

Fire officials noted that the Green Nursing Home did not have an automatic sprinkler system nor had any fire drills been conducted by the operators.

"I would not attempt to pinpoint the cause of the fire, because I would not want to encroach on the responsibility of the Ohio State Fire Marshal," said Bland, adding that "the fire started around the furnace in the basement."

Rev. Prentice Brown, president of the Cincinnati Academy of Nursing Homes, and Gary Shepherd, Columbus, director of the Ohio Nursing Home Association, charged that the Lincoln Heights Fire Department took 35 minutes to respond less than a mile to the early morning fire.

Both said lives probably would have been lost, but some might have been saved. James Brown, Lincoln Heights Safety Director, said the department arrived in 18 minutes. He said they were delayed by an engine breakdown and hampered by water pressure problems with the equipment.

"If Evendale hadn't come, the whole neighborhood would have burned up" said Mrs. Mary Brooks, a neighbor who turned in the first alarm.

Sam Fraley, chief of the Ohio Nursing Home Board of Examiners said the home's license had been renewed Jan. 12, and that the State Fire Marshal's office reported no violations on its inspection April 26, 1971.

Richard Lighner, executive assistant to the State Welfare Director, however, said the Green Nursing home failed "to meet standards for Medicaid and Medicare." He called it an "intermediate aid facility."

Fred Breyer, Hamilton County Welfare Director, explained that an "intermediate aid home" generally contains ambulatory patients who did not require skilled nursing care.

The ages of the victims were 68-94 and two were blind. A mass, non-denominational service will be held for the victims Friday in Lincoln Heights.

Barge Blast May Bring River Rules

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Cmdr. Bobby Burns of the U.S. Coast Guard Huntington district said Wednesday he believes the Ohio River barge explosions Jan. 7 were a good example of river danger and may lead to recommendations for new federal legislation on river safety.

Burns comments came after the conclusion of three days of hearings into the explosions, which left two men dead and caused more than $1 million in property damage here and across the river in Belpre Ohio.

Burns said, "Our next step is to write up the hearings with my opinions and recommendations." He said his final report will be available in about three months.

Burns would not give out his opinions pending the release of the report. But Burns said several theories would be considered:

—That the explosion was really a series of ten or more smaller blasts.

—That the two men missing, and presumed dead in the explosion, Joseph Stephens, and his son Charles, are trapped in a wrecked barge still mostly totally submerged in the river channel.

—That the disaster was due to personal error.

Youth Gives Self Up; Held For Frauds

CINCINNATI (AP)—A 19-year-old accused embezzler of more than $75,000, who managed to escape from the Hamilton County Jail Sunday, was captured Wednesday night after running away from an agreed-upon surrender.

John Irwin said he saw two Hamilton County sheriff's deputies with an ambulance at a rural intersection in Anderson Township.

"I thought they were going to shoot me, so I took off," said Irwin. He was picked up in a New Richmond, Ohio, service station by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

"You know who I am," he told the state officer, "I'm trying to give myself up." He was turned over to the county officials at the Mount Carmel Post of the patrol.

Young Irwin, disguised in a wig, got out of the county jail by posting a $50 bond and saying he was another prisoner. Jailers let him go without checking. His own bond was $4,000, but he didn't have that much money, he said.

Irwin called The Cincinnati Enquirer to tell them of the escape. He said he wanted an early trial rather than sit in jail for months.

The Enquirer was told the trial would be held Wednesday and Irwin said he'd show up. He didn't come.

He said after his capture that he had called the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court and asked if he was on the docket. A clerk told him he wasn't, and Irwin said he felt police were laying a trap.

Irwin, in a later telephone call, told The Enquirer he would surrender Wednesday night at the intersection.

Irwin was charged with embezzlement here by a fish carry-out franchise where he had been employed as a management trainee. They had received a $4,000 bill from a limousine service Irwin had used to ride to and from work in.

Irwin, meanwhile, had quit the job and gone to Florida, then the Bahamas. Police said the youth had run up $75,000 in bills on the trip.

His parents had refused to post bond for the youth. His mother asked the court for psychiatric treatment for her son.

Ohio Teacher Saw Soldier On Guam

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati school teacher believes he saw a Japanese soldier in the jungle on Guam in 1969, but government officials would not believe his story nor would they mount a search attempt.

Larry Mayfield, who was teaching U.S. Air Force dependents on the island at the time, recalled the incident Wednesday after reading about a Japanese soldier who had been hiding 28 years on the island after it was recaptured by the Americans during World War II.

Sgt. Shoichi Yokoi, bearded and garbed in clothing woven from tree bark, was found by two hunters near a homemade shrimp trap. Mayfield said the man he saw was also fishing for shrimp near Segua Falls, two miles from where Yokoi was found by two hunters.

"He just appeared out of the jungle," said Mayfield. "He was old, heavily bearded and was wearing clothes fashioned after a Japanese uniform, which gave him the appearance of a washed out soldier."

The man apparently did not speak English. He merely looked at Mayfield, his wife and another couple "glassy eyed" when they invited him to eat. They were on a picnic.

Mayfield said the soldier kept backing away and bowing, then darted into the jungle when Mayfield reached for a camera.

Two Injured, One Cited In City Crash

A one-car accident 11:29 p.m. Wednesday on N. Court St., just south of Wilson Ave., resulted in injury to two persons and the citing of the driver for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Michael A. Augustine, 18, 623 Mowrer Road, suffered injuries, and was cited by Ptl. D. N. Smales, when his southbound auto struck a motel sign on N. Court St.

A passenger in the car, Richard Eugene Olney, 18, 345 Sunnyview Ave., also was injured in the mishap.

Both were taken to Berger Hospital for treatment.

Circleville Fire Department was called to the scene to extinguish a blaze that broke out in the auto's electrical system after the crash.

Hudson River 80 miles north of New York City.

After letting the 42 passengers off, the gunmen kept the pilot, Capt. Carl Rieth, and co-pilot William O'Hara at bay in the cockpit while he held the stewardess with him in the rear cabin, threatening to blow up the plane if his demands were not met.

For seven tension-filled hours he waited aboard the FH27 twin-engine turbojet while the airline rounded up the money in New York City and had it sent with a police escort to the airport.

He also demanded and got two parachutes, at one point saying he intended to force the stewardess to jump with him. But he later appeared to back away from this threat.

Rieth, who talked with the man over the plane's public address system, said that as the hours wore on the man appeared to be growing edgier.

"He's screaming. He sounds like a madman," Rieth said at one point, he "says he's not only an expert parachutist, he's an expert pilot. He'll put bullets through us and take this crate out of here himself."

When the money finally arrived it was passed into the cockpit and the parachutes were placed aboard through a cargo hatch. "He's giving us two minutes to take off," Rieth radioed the control tower.

Then with lights flashing and wit FBI agents, state troopers and local police watching, the plane took off at 1:59 a.m.

Another Mohawk plane, running without lights, took off to trail the hijacked airliner.

Amend Bill On Welfare Inspection

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A House committee Wednesday amended a bill creating an inspector general to police Ohio's welfare program, by making the office responsible to the legislature rather than to the governor.

"We don't trust the governor and his associates in the Welfare Department to clean up the mess," said Rep. Rodney Hughes, R-8 Bellefontaine, chairman of the Select Committee on Public Assistance.

Hughes said the legislation would save taxpayers money because it would crack down on welfare cheaters.

"We're going to eliminate this idea of a welfare recipient and his buddy stealing each other's checks and then each reporting them stolen to get new ones," he said.

Hughes said the bill, along with two other welfare measures given hearings Wednesday, would be ready for floor action when the legislature returns Feb. 29. Other hearings have been set for Feb. 9.

Another amendment would make county welfare department employees personally liable for fraudulent welfare claims they processed. Another would require welfare recipients to have a color photo identification card, which they would have to present to pick up their checks.

OU-L Offers Tax Course

To prepare area citizens for "that time of year again," the Lancaster OU branch is offering an income tax clinic beginning Tuesday, Feb. 1.

The clinic will cover preparation of individual Federal Income tax returns in three two-hour sessions beginning next Tuesday and continuing on Tuesday evenings for a total of three meetings. The sessions will start at 7:30 p.m.

The course is made to aid an individual in preparing the personal income tax return for the 1971 tax year. Income, expenses, business deductions, donations and other items to be included in the Long Form 1040 will be given consideration. Recent changes in the federal tax law will be discussed.

John Lester, Certified public accountant, Lancaster, will be instructor for the course.

Registration in the class can be completed at the campus during regular office hours, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 654-6711, extension 27.

Contest Seeks Miss Ohio Teen-Ager

Applications are being accepted for the Miss Ohio Teen-Ager Pageant to be held at the Sheraton-Dayton Hotel in Dayton. Girls 13 to 17 years of age are eligible to enter, if they are U.S. citizens, and residents of Ohio, but contestants must still be 17 on Sept. 1, 1972.

Judging is based on scholastic achievements, civic contributions, poise, personality and appearance, and there is no talent or bathing suit competition. It has been cited for its worthwhile contributions to youth by civic, political and educational leaders.

There is no entrance fee, and judging is handled by civic and educational people from the state of Ohio. Each girl will be interviewed individually by a panel of judges on the day of the pageant, and again at the pageant that evening.

The date for the Miss Ohio Teen Ager Pageant is July 14-15, 1972. Winner from this pageant will go on to the National Finals in Atlanta, Ga. on Aug. 26. She will receive food, lodging, and plane fare to the finals, which involves a 4-day tour and trip. Also each state winner and 1st and 2nd runner up from the state will receive a scholarship.

Ohio girls are urged to write now for their applications to Official Certification Headquarters, 126 Bunn Drive, Rockton, Illinois 61072.

Juvenile Jail Facilities Case Is Overturned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court said Wednesday a contention by Richland County commissioners that the county was without funds to provide a juvenile detention facility was "a viable defense."

It sent back to the Court of Appeals in Richland County for further hearings a ruling that the commissioners must provide the facility upon the request of a juvenile court judge.

Common Pleas Judge Ralph Jones, who handles juvenile court cases, had filed a mandamus action in the appellate court to force commissioners to comply with state law regarding detention home facilities.

The high court said the judge's request should have been overruled and evidence taken. It ordered the appellate court to hold hearings to permit county commissioners to present evidence.

In another case, the Supreme Court found that materials sold to a nonprofit hospital for construction of a parking garage where fees are charged are exempt from Ohio's sales and use taxes.

The decision reversed a Board of Tax appeals ruling that Good Samaritan Hospital in Dayton had to pay tax on the building materials.

The hospital, operated by the Sisters of Charity, argued that the parking garage was an essential part of its services.

The Ohio Department of Taxation upheld by the tax appeals board, claimed that a garage charging fees had no connection with medical health services.

The Supreme Court said the parking facilities were "necessary for the hospital complex."

John McCormack Visits Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former House Speaker John McCormack was a visitor in the House chamber Tuesday during his first trip to Washington since his wife died last month.

Looking hale and hearty and saying he felt fine, the 80-year old McCormack came here to close out the hotel apartment he and his wife occupied for years while he served in Congress. He now lives in Boston.

Wednesday evening to the hospital board of governors and its new head, Mayor Frank Barnhill. Also present was the newest board member, Charles Rose, and clerk for the group, Ann Dresbach.

Total revenue for the twelve-month period was $1,182,909. Departmental expenses of operating the institution absorbed $1,180,457, of that, some $19,000 over the budgeted amount.

There were 28 new babies born at Berger Hospital during December, bringing the year's final tally to 453. Births were down by 40 over the previous year, showing slightly less than a 12½ per cent decrease. Dr. J. M. Hedges commented that Berger was following the national trend, which recorded a 16 per cent drop.

OCCUPANCY for the last month of 1971 was a low 57 per cent, and for January to date, Berger can announce only a 6 per cent rise over that figure. The year's occupancy level averaged 65 per cent, same as in 1970.

Total emergency room visits during December was 659, making the year's total 8,843, about 330 more than recorded the previous year. Showing the greatest percentage of increase was the business in the X-ray laboratory with 19,802 X-rays made, or 23.1 per cent over the 1970 figure.

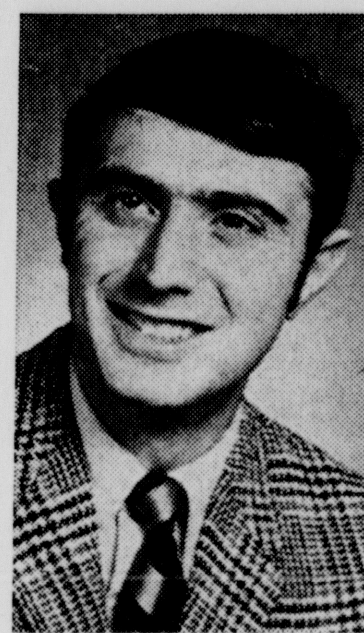

Admissions for 1971 totalled 2,510, a figure short 49 patients in the 1970 report. Thirty-seven of this decrease was experienced in the obstetrics department. Average cost per patient day was $87.19.

Board members discussed future planning, including plans to update the local hospital facility and commented on the efforts of the guilds in preparing for the March 23, 24 and 25 High Fever Follies.

Administrator John Reid announced that he had been appointed to a committee working with county commissioners to study ambulance service in the area. He also reported on an accredited Nurse Training program which will be offered here as a compulsory program for employees.

Attending the meeting Wednesday were: Reid, Bob Huffer, Dr. Hedges, Harry Clifton, Barnhill, Dr. F. W. Anderson, Howard Koch, Charles Rose, Henry Schroeder, Dr. Carlos Alvarez and Mrs. Dresbach.

Warsaw Pact Conference Herald Of Things To Come?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Warsaw Pact summit just ended in Czechoslovakia seems a herald of things to come in a determined Soviet diplomatic drive to achieve some major goals by mixing blandishments with thinly veiled threats.

The offensive is likely to pick up steam in advance of President Nixon's visits to Peking and Moscow.

The Prague summit proposed a reduction of armed forces in Europe while at the same time urgently pleading for an all-European security conference—with the Americans sitting in if they choose to—by the end of 1972.

It seems clear the target of the drive is NATO. The Russians are not gamblers, though. They have never renounced support for expansion of Communist rule either by peaceful or violent means, but they seem to want a situation wherein, should they see opportunities, the risk would be minimized.

American troops in Europe may be only token forces, but if they were removed, so would a protective U.S. presence for 3,000 miles. Moscow can claim at any time that the Warsaw treaty alliance is disbanded, since Moscow commands those nations anyway. Soviet troops, to, are never far from Western Europe.

It would be a Kremlin plus if pressures eventually were exerted on European governments to regard U.S. troops as unnecessary. But Moscow wants a "security" conference anyway, for a number of purposes. It could reach agreements which would suggest no more need for military blocs and recognize the status quo in Europe. That is, Communist regimes would be like Communist frontiers—safe for all the foreseeable future. Moscow then could pay considerably more attention to Asia and Red China.

Bethlehem Steel Earnings Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp., the second-largest U.S. steelmaker, today announced that its 1971 fourth-quarter earnings rose to $51,634,000 from $21,190,000 the previous year, despite slightly lower revenues.

The company reported per share income of $1.16 for the latest quarter, compared with 48 cents a share in the corresponding period of 1970.

'Old' Army Returns

The new Army has engaged the old in mortal combat and has been decisively defeated. Beer in the barracks will begin to look like barracks again. And woe be unto any company commander who permits his men to hang lace curtains on windows.

That is the word from the brass. As explained by Brig. Gen. Ira Hunt, the Army's chief training commander, 'We've taken a long look at things experimented around, and now we've decided that the relatively Spartan environment is the best for recruits.'

A few of the changes instituted by the Army a year ago to promote enlistment will stand. The morning reveille formation is still out. The men need only arise in time to show up for their first job assignment. Other changes are in the works.

Beginning in February, recruits will receive 30 to 40 per cent more exercise than at present. At the request, officials insist, of the recruits themselves.

Testing, Testing

A razor blade factory in Scotland has adopted the "shaving break" during which employees clip off their whiskers on company time to test their blades against the competition. It's a departure, and one that might have all sorts of happy effects in other industries.

The possibilities are enormous. Imagine the elation among the hired help if a brewery, for example, adopted some such program. Suppose automobile manufacturers supplied the autos and sent their employees for pleasant little drives during the working day.

Not to mention what a time there would be at the golf ball factory.

It sounds like nothing but fun, but somewhere in this idea there may be the answer to the awesome problem of automation — everybody living it up in the interests of a vast testing program.

Courtesy Saves Lives

How many automobile accidents are caused by discourtesy at the wheel will never be known, but his inexcusable attitude is beyond doubt a major reason for the appalling death record.

When a line of cars is held up by slow traffic ahead, a smart aleck egoist frequently dashes into the danger line of a two-lane highway in an effort to wedge himself into the line ahead of other drivers. Many tragic accidents occur as a result of this practice and the offender seldom escapes unscathed.

This is only one of many situations which are met by motorists, and when traffic becomes increasingly congested special caution is necessary. Extreme speed and illegal passing are two main elements of automobile accidents. Both are violations of traffic courtesy in that they are caused by the selfish desire of a driver to put his own convenience ahead of that of other drivers.

If all drivers were as courteous on the road as they are on foot in a crowded building, the death list would be greatly reduced.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite efforts made to make the budget appear to be one of carefully considered options, it is apparent that it is one imposed by circumstances, domestic and international, that leave few choices.

Otherwise, no administration seeking recognition for fiscal responsibility would accept the dangers of running a planned deficit of $25.5 billion in 1973 on top of an estimated $38.8 billion deficit in 1972.

The many economic risks involved in such deficits may be summed up in one phrase: The dangers are equal to the potential benefits. Disequilibrium rather than stability could be the legacy.

A deficit might get the economy moving again, but not without risking reflation and a possible loss of foreign trade. It might reduce unemployment but conceivably add to it later.

The vice of circumstance is revealed politically, ideologically, financially. The administration believes in one position but takes another.

The President knows the dangers of overspending, but he knows too that if he doesn't find jobs he'll lose votes. Already he is branded with an economic record that has been often daring but often ineffective.

Again, the President obviously wishes to be acclaimed for fiscal responsibility, but he has been forced for three years to make radical changes in his own and the party's ideology and now is an advocate of huge deficits.

The vice also is tightened by military considerations. The President presents himself as a man of peace and has taken many steps in that direction, but because of circumstances he feels are beyond his control he seeks a military budget of more than $85 billion.

But nowhere is the near absence of choice appreciated until it is realized that 70 per cent of the $246.3 billion budget is to finance projects to which the country already is committed by law or contract.

The result of trying to make his mark with the remaining 30 per cent necessitates that the President risk a considerable amount of brinkmanship.

Deficits generally get out of hand. Circumstances that cannot be foreseen and sometimes not even understood in retrospect make events quite different from the forecast.

Horoscope Forecast

By Carroll Righter

FRIDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Unexpected problems can arise to annoy today and tonight. It is wise to do nothing which can lessen harmony in solving problems, because you as well as others are too quick to take offense and can become greatly overwrought, making mountains of molehills.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 18) Do your utmost to keep harmony within the home now, and you find your business life improves. Quietly get rid of whatever is causing trouble. Try to talk less and listen more. Learn.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Avoid any tendency to be careless in driving, walking or motion of any kind and so prevent trouble. Criticizing others could get you in hot water, so think before you speak. Save more money for the future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are tempted to spend lavishly and then regret it at leisure, so think twice and don't do it. Put your money in the bank and be glad you did. It is important you stay within your budget now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You are in a discontented mood and could accomplish little or nothing, or get into trouble, so change your attitude and this becomes a happy, good day for you. Test your mettle, turn adversity into gain.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Instead of trying to get out of those obligations facing you, you had better use tact and dig right into them. Then you find you even have time to help others in similar circumstances. Keep objective.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Friends are in the mood to criticize, so do not give them any cause for doing so today. Some group meeting is best avoided. Others' moods are combustible and the wrong word could start off a big fracas.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You want to handle some public affair today, but take care you do not inadvertently do something that could ruin your reputation. Take no risks with big-wigs whatever. Show you know exactly what you are doing, saying.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Although your head is buzzing with new ideas you want to put in operation just because you are bored, you could get into trouble if you do not study them well. Show you are a good cautious person. Relax in p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Although you are reaching the end of your patience, go through with promises you have made and then all is fine. Being blunt with others could get you into a peck of trouble. Use diplomacy instead.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You feel unhappy where others are concerned, so study the situation well before you lose your temper, and then don't do it. Don't rush out to see an opponent angrily, either. Get down to constructive work to be accomplished.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Although your work may be boring now, it is no time to neglect it and then lose out on the benefits it can bring. Discipline yourself well, especially where dealings with others are concerned. Get much accomplished easily.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Although you want to get away from worries, you must be sure not to neglect promises you have made, because this could increase anxieties. Listen to the worries of others. Show you have understanding.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those self-conscious young people who has to be taught early to be more objective. Otherwise the feelings will be hurt very easily and much worrying done instead of constructive work. Give as fine an education as you can and slant it toward whatever has to do with merchandising, pleasing the public and there can be a very fine living made here without too much worry. Religion early, though.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I had arranged to take five days off from work to have my tonsils removed. I arrived at the hospital as I was instructed, and was to have the operation at two that afternoon.

After all this planning, the operation was canceled because I had a bowl of cereal at 7 a.m.

Now I've got to make my plans all over and waste time again. Why should they have done this?

Dear Mr. W.: The one thing you left out of your letter was that you most certainly had been told not to eat or drink anything on the morning of your operation.

Most hospitals insist that adults come into the hospital the night before, to make sure that nothing is taken by mouth for at least eight hours before surgery.

It is unfortunate that you had to waste the time and re-plan your operation.

The hospital, too, was inconvenienced because it had to waste a valuable bed that might otherwise have been assigned to another person.

The operating room schedule was disrupted, the surgeon gave up precious time, the operating room personnel were inconvenienced and the anesthesia department had to re-plan its day.

All of this was not in the nature of punishment to you, but rather a very significant contribution to your health.

Let me explain. The science of anesthesiology has, in the past 30 years, grown into a specialty of vast importance. The safety of today's anesthesia is due to the highly concentrated training of those who specialize in this exact science.

Dr. Seamus Lynch, chairman of the anesthesiology Department of the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, has told me "Never will I or my staff give an anesthesia to anyone if the slightest additional risk is involved."

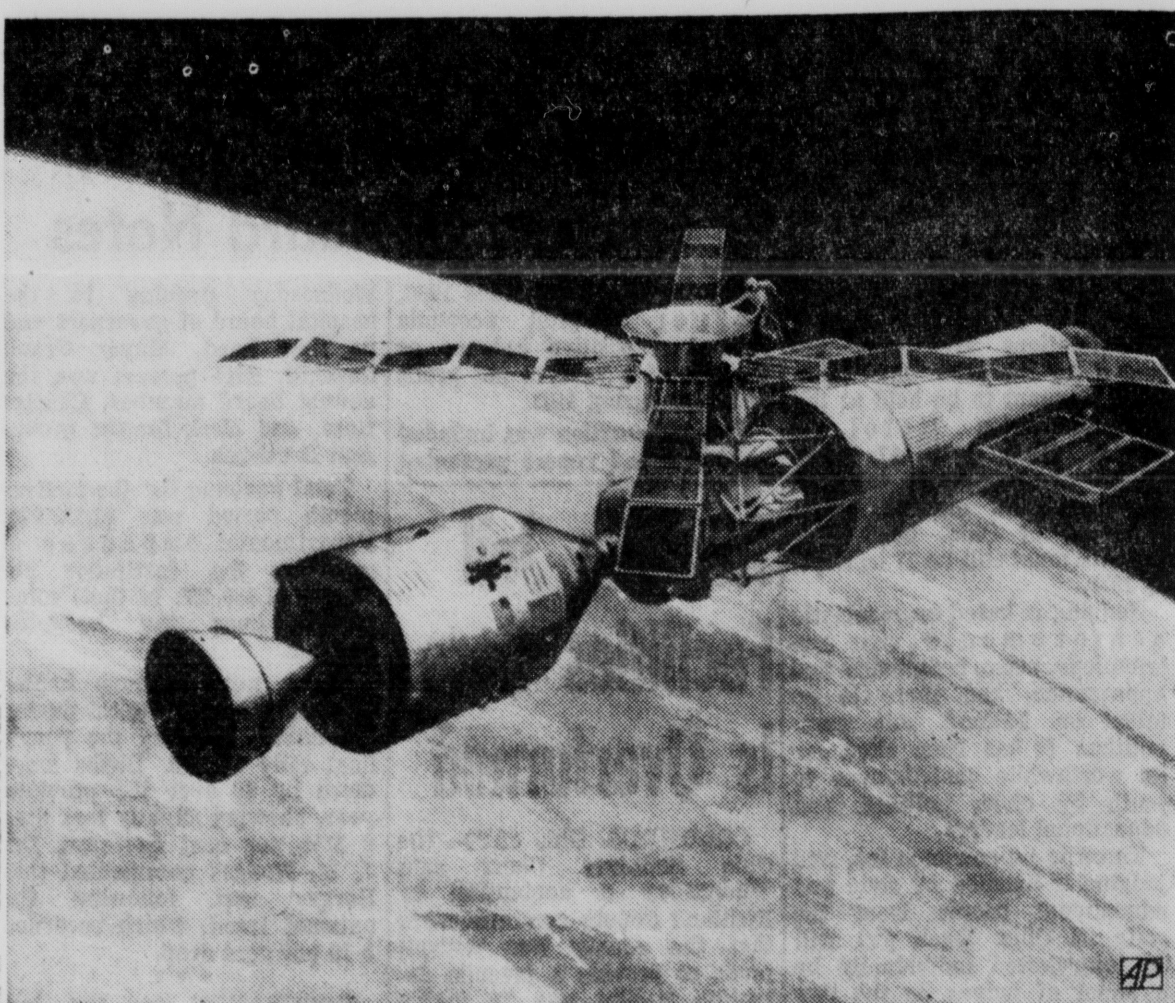

Your breakfast was a particularly hazardous risk that might have caused you catastrophic complications.

Had your operation been performed you might have inhaled, or aspirated, your breakfast into your lungs and caused a most serious situation.

Surgeons recognize that the success and safety of their entire operation very often depends on the contribution made by the anesthesiologist. They confer with each other and with the general physician to choose the ideal and safest technique for each individual case.

In more complicated cases than yours, patients are admitted to the hospital for three or four days in advance of surgery and the most exacting routine is followed to insure the maximum safety for the patient.

Now, in retrospect you must substitute thankfulness for fury.

More Nonsense

By JEFFERY HART

In "Heart of Darkness" Joseph Conrad describes the demonic Mr. Kurtz as a man who had "kicked himself free of the earth." Kurtz had lost all hold on actuality and now lived entirely in the realm of his own disordered fancies.

There is something downright Kurtzian in the report just issued by the ten-month-old Corporate Information Center of the National Council of Churches.

The assumption behind the report is that there is something inherently immoral about investing in companies that do part of their business with the Department of Defense. Weapons manufacture, as the report assumes, is simply evil. Thus the report looks with horror on the fact that ten Protestant denominations have some $200 million — out of a total investment portfolio of $22 billion — invested in diabolical corporations like A T & T, Texaco, Honeywell and so on which, it cannot be denied, are part of the "military-industrial complex."

The report has manifold and obviously staggering implications. It can only be read as saying that weapons manufacture of any sort is immoral and a violation of Christian ethics. But neither contention has any support either in Scripture or in Christian tradition. From the very beginning the Christian tradition has recognized that force may validly have to be employed, given the circumstance of an imperfect world.

The Church fathers, whose teachings are part of both the Protestant and the Roman Catholic tradition, are clear enough on this point. The parable of the Good Samaritan surely suggests that, had he arrived on the scene in the midst of the mugging instead of shortly after, he might have done something to assist the man fallen among thieves. Nothing in Jesus' teaching suggests that the Samaritan ought to have abetted the thieves by passivity and allowed the victim to go under.

The logical extension of the report of the Corporate Information Center would produce behavior totally at odds with anything recognizably Christian. One thinks of the notorious incident, a few years back, in which a young Long Island woman was murdered by a thug while dozens of citizens looked on and did nothing. Surely a deficiency in the Christian virtue of charity could not be more extreme. In global affairs, ethical behavior may well require the use of weapons. From that perspective, indeed, the attitude of the report is profoundly heretical, and suggests a rejection of the world more in keeping with some of the Asian religions than with the Christian tradition of the West.

The Corporate Information Center, on the evidence of this report, also sheds a good deal of light on the religious situation today. Probably not one American Protestant in ten thousand thinks that the U.S. national defense is intrinsically immoral, i.e. that the country should not be defended or is not worth defending. Yet here is a body set up by the National Council of Churches, which in turn purports to speak for all Protestants, coming forward with the view that weapons manufacture is evil and that the churches should not lend it an "aura of legitimacy" through their investments. No finer illustration could be adduced of the wide gap that separates the liberal and radical ideologues in the churches from the vast body of Christians in America.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite efforts made to make the budget appear to be one of carefully considered options, it is apparent that it is one imposed by circumstances, domestic and international, that leave few choices.

Otherwise, no administration seeking recognition for fiscal responsibility would accept the dangers of running a planned deficit of $25.5 billion in 1973 on top of an estimated $38.8 billion deficit in 1972.

The many economic risks involved in such deficits may be summed up in one phrase: The dangers are equal to the potential benefits. Disequilibrium rather than stability could be the legacy.

A deficit might get the economy moving again, but not without risking reinflation and a possible loss of foreign trade. It might reduce unemployment but conceivably add to it later.

The vise of circumstance is revealed politically, ideologically, financially. The administration believes in one position but takes another.

The President knows the dangers of overspending, but he knows too that if he doesn't find jobs he'll lose votes. Already he is branded with an economic record that has been often daring but often ineffective.

Again, the President obviously wishes to be acclaimed for fiscal responsibility, but he has been forced for three years to make radical changes in his own and the party's ideology and now is an advocate of huge deficits.

The vise also is tightened by military considerations. The President presents himself as a man of peace and has taken many steps in that direction, but because of circumstances he feels are beyond his control he seeks a military budget of more than $85 billion.

But nowhere is the near absence of choice appreciated until it is realized that 70 per cent of the $246.3 billion budget is to finance projects to which the country already is committed by law or contract.

The result of trying to make his mark with the remaining 30 per cent necessitates that the President risk a considerable amount of brinkmanship.

Deficits generally get out of hand. Circumstances that cannot be foreseen and sometimes not even understood in retrospect make events quite different from the forecast.

Joblessness Big Economic Enemy, President Reports

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joblessness has become the great economic enemy President Nixon said today. He assured Congress he is determined to defeat both unemployment and inflation, and reported "the outlook is bright" for success.

In his annual Economic Report to Congress, Nixon quashed with finality the things by some officials of an early end to Phase 2. Price-wage controls will be enforced, he said, until the goal of "reasonable price stability can be maintained without controls."

"We will persevere until the goal is reached," he promised, "but we will not keep the controls one day longer than necessary."

The report, third and last of the major presidential messages to the new session of Congress, announced a strong business expansion in the final quarter of 1971. Real output rose 6 per cent in annual rate, twice the rate of the preceding six months.

Gross national output will rise by nearly $100 billion in 1972, or more than 9 per cent, to a total of $1.145 trillion, the message said and two-thirds of the record gain will be real not just inflation.

"1972 begins on a note of much greater confidence than prevailed 6 or 12 months ago," the President said. "Output is rising at a rate which will boost employment rapidly and eat into unemployment. There is every reason to expect this rate of increase to continue ..."

"We are converting the fear of perpetual inflation into a growing hope for price stability ... For the first time in over a decade, the United States is moving decisively to restore strength to its international economic position.

"The outlook is bright, but much remains to be done. The great problem is to get the unemployment rate down from the 6 per cent level where it was in 1971 ..."

"Six per cent unemployment is too much, and I am determined to reduce that number significantly in 1972."

Nixon said the 1971 tax cuts and the massive budget deficits he announced in Monday's fiscal 1973 budget message will provide an upward thrust for the economy. Current federal spending, he said, would exceed revenues by $8.1 billion even if the economy were running at full employment.

"This is strong medicine, and I do not propose to continue its use," he assured the lawmakers, "but we have taken it in order to give a powerful stimulus to employment."

A forecast that the recent 6 per cent gain in real output will continue in 1972, while the year-to-year rise in prices diminishes to 3 1/4 per cent—and to a rate below 3 per cent by the year-end—was made in the report of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, headed by Herbert Stein.

Chairman Stein was among those criticized by congressmen recently for speculating that the Phase 2 controls might be lifted before the November election. He later explained he meant the ceilings might or might not be needed that long, but would be kept as long as needed.

Today the President's unusually brief 2200-word message and the council's 295-page report which accompanied it were in agreement on the point. Controls will be kept until reasonable stability can be maintained without them, Nixon said, and "how long it will take no one can say." But: "That state of affairs can and will be reached."

Success will depend on cooperation of the American people, Nixon said, not only through compliance with the regulations but in a "mutual understanding of the difficulties that all of us—working people, business men, consumers, farmers, government officials—encounter in this new and complicated program."

"Our experience in the past few months convinces me that we shall have this necessary ingredient for success," Nixon said.

"Real compensation per hour of work increased 2.5 per cent ... On the average during 1971 there were 79 million people on work, the highest number on record. In November the count passed 80 million for the first time."

In a passage dealing with less-comfortable statistics, the council made the administration's first public admission that what happened in 1970 was a recession. Until now it has been a slowdown, a hesitation, or other euphemism. In today's report came the blunt statement: "In 1970 the United States was in a mild recession."

NEW YORK (AP) — If NBC is in the market for a tough, tense and violent detective series, it has found one in "Cutter" the 90-minute pilot film that had a test run Wednesday night on "Mystery Movie."

The framework was strong enough to support the familiar action and the hero, private eye Frank Cutter—played by Peter DeAnda—is a handsome young black man. The show was reminiscent of "Mannix."

The story centered around the disappearance of a pro football star and a psychotic franchise holder who wanted his team to lose, but the plot was almost incidental to the judo chops, roundhouse rights to the midriffs and wild chase involving two ambulances careening through city streets. The program was given a mighty lift by the location shots in Chicago. Planting Time Aids Corn Crop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state agronomist is advising farmers that "planting corn at the proper time may be the most important factor in profitable corn production in Ohio."

Lawrence Shepherd, extension agronomist at Ohio State University, produces results of demonstration plots at the Ohio Farm Science Review to prove his point.

For three years, he said, the average difference in yield between corn planted at ideal and late dates has been 92 bushels per acre for corn planted June 15.

Yields drop fast when corn is planted after May 8, he claims.

In recent years Ohio farmers have averaged only about 30 per cent of their corn planted by May 10. In 1971, about 75 per cent of the crop was planted on time, and the 87 bushels harvested per acre set a new record for the state.

In all areas except a few counties in northeastern Ohio — Ashtabula, Geauga, Portage, Cuyahoga, Medina, Summit and Trumbull — corn should be planted by May 10, Shepherd said. In those counties the date should be May 15.

The producers spent a day at the Johnson ranch in talk around the central subject. Notes were distilled into general areas for questions, then both Cronkite and the ex-president did their preparatory work.

"He has never declined to answer any question," Sharnik reported, "and only once has he asked us to hold up for a moment while he dug up a file."

Appalachian Plan Comes Under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — A recommendation contained in the President's budget that the Appalachian Regional Development Program be abolished and its functions merged into revenue sharing has brought new wrath from Sen. Jennings Randolph, the author of the program.

Randolph, D-W. Va., leader of a fight to defeat a similar move last year says he is surprised the administration is trying again.

The council's report opened with a reminder to Americans that, despite the problems and disappointments of recent years, the United States remains unique in economic strength.

"Total output per capita in 1971 was higher in the United States than anywhere else in the world," it said. "Output per worker, per hour of work, and—as far as can be estimated — per unit of all resources were also the highest in the world."

"In all of these dimensions the economy continued to progress in 1971. In all of them the figures showed record highs last year. Labor productivity—output per hour of work—rose more rapidly than it had for several years ..."

"There was a major shift in the allocation of total output from military to civilian uses again."

Producer John Sharnik said Johnson felt that since it was his life he should have the right of approving the program's editing. The network's position was that the interview was not an official memoir.

Monday Club Program Is American Folklore

Monday Club met the evening of Jan 24th in the meeting room of the Pickaway County Historical Society. Mrs. William Cox, president, presided over the brief business meeting preceding the program.

Mrs. Tom Renick gave a discussion of American Folklore and introduced her paper with a quotation from Life Magazine's "Treasury of American Folklore."

In 1872, many years after she had won fame as the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Harriet Beecher Stowe, at the age of sixty, wrote out of her childhood experience — "There was no theater, no opera ... when winter came and the sun went down at half past four o'clock and left the long dark hours of the evening to be provided for, the necessity of amusement became urgent. Hence in those days chimney-corner story telling became an art and an accomplishment. Society then was full of traditions and narratives, which had all the uncertain glow and shifting mystery of the firelight hearth."

There is no better description of the magic quality of folklore. It may also serve as a definition of folklore as a collection of traditional narratives, old-timers' memories, pithy sayings, ghost stories, twangy ballads, and outrageous exaggerations. Folklore is sometimes vulgar, sometimes wisdom; sometimes it is history suffused with legend, not quite factual, not completely unfactual.

The folklore of this country, is not only loved, chuckled over and wondered at; it is also studied. The Journal of American Folklore has been published since 1888 by the American Folklore Society. This is a scholarly periodical which strives to collect and preserve the best, not only of American folklore, but also folklore from every corner of the globe. This necessitates extensive study and research but sadly enough, often the place, date, and name of the informant is not recorded.

In spite of this missing information, folklore provides insight into what the people of the past hoped and thought and feared during their lives. For example, history tells us when and how Columbus discovered America. However, the tales of the "Sea of Darkness", that unknown part of the Atlantic beyond the Azores and Greenland, reveal the horrors his men feared as they sailed west and also the dreams they had of wealth to be found. This is accepted as folklore.

There are three traditions of literature which flourish in a country like ours, namely the literary tradition, the popular tradition, and the oral or folk tradition.

The literary tradition represents material written and read by persons of some education. This is learned in our schools and colleges. It helps to form the bulk of our beliefs, ideals, and standards and is passed on to our children.

The oral or folk tradition is material that men and women who can't, don't, or won't write, pass on from generation to generation by word of mouth.

Folklore cannot survive in a set form. It is constantly changing and this process is its life blood. When it is halted by printing or recording it becomes static. It comes alive again only when it flows back into oral circulation.

However, it is popular tradition, that is most troublesome. This is where we find all sorts of promotional material which is scattered to huge groups of people through mass media. Figures like Pecos Bill and Paul Bunyon are promoted in order to provide local color that will attract tourists. Billy the Kid and Davy Crockett are transformed, by script writers, into television heroes to sell cereal. These all fall within the popular tradition.

It is difficult, even for the experts, to distinguish clearly between popular tradition and folk tradition. All freely absorb and exchange material. Consider this instance — Dan Emmett, the minstrel, wrote two songs, "I Wish I Was In Dixie" and "Old Dan Tucker." Both are known to millions of Americans. "Dixie" is a popular song that has never entered folk tradition. "Old Dan Tucker" was used as a party and square dance song. It has been changed, many new stanzas added, and has been re-created so completely and so often in oral transmission that it is now a genuine folk song. However, not so long ago, a version of "Old Dan Tucker" was being played by disc jockeys all across the nation. Therefore, one version, rewritten, had re-entered popular tradition.

There is much confusion in American folklore. This is to be expected in a nation as culturally diverse as America. Indeed, in a nation that came into being so recently and so rapidly it may be risky to insist that a national folklore exists at all. True there is a popular lore that is national in character, and which is known to the nation as a whole. This is the lore that is national in character magazines and newspapers and see and hear on radio and television. Actually, the folk, themselves, learn almost nothing of such matter through the oral tradition.

So, what of the future? Will we lose the old traditions, the old superstitions, the old folk tales to our new rising generation or will the best survive?

School Accreditation AAUW Program Subject

Dr. Harold Bowers was guest speaker for the Tuesday evening meeting of Circleville Branch American Assn. of University Women in the meeting room of Pickaway County Historical Society.

Dr. Bowers, a graduate of Circleville High School, Ohio Northern University and Ohio State University, is a member of the North-Central Accreditation Board. Dr. Bowers has been with the State Department of Education in various capacities from 1936 to 1970. He is now a part-time education consultant to three state boards. He continues to advise and examine high schools for accreditation by the North Central Accreditation Board.

To be an accredited school, Dr. Bowers explained, a school must meet optimum standards. Circleville High School has had continuous membership in the association since 1903. To be continuously accredited, Dr. Bowers said that the school must be evaluated periodically by faculty members and personnel of the school itself and committees from the Accreditation Board.

Dr. Bowers said that if a school is deficient in some area it has one year to correct the deficiency or it is dropped from membership in the association. He listed the qualifications a school must have to be accredited and the steps in accreditation.

He closed his talk by saying "The schools of a community are as good as the public demands and they can become as bad as the public allows. In the final analysis, if you want better schools, you are the ones that will bring it about."

Refreshments were served by the hostess committee composed of: Mrs. Robert May, chairman; Mrs. Leland Dunkel, Miss Helen Mettler, Mrs. Robert Schneider, Mrs. Robert Scherer, Mrs. Dick Tootle, Mrs. Michael Wilson, Mrs. Donald Metzler, Mrs. Jack Heeter, Mrs. Arlene Gregory and Mrs. Elaine McCullough.

University Mothers Club Sets Meeting

The Capital University Mother's Club will meet 1:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 11 in the South Dining Room of the Campus Center. Mrs. Ralph Nicol will be in charge of devotions.

Whitehall Yearling High School Student Council will present the "Flag Pageant", directed by Mrs. Ernest Compton, director of student activities.

Bring baked goods to this meeting for the bake sale. Hospitality members are: Mrs. Samuel Miller, Mrs. Lawrence Luft, Mrs. Ervin Mathews, Mrs. Jack Woodruff, Mrs. Luther Byrd and Mrs. John Wolfe.

Personals

Mrs. Laura Gittens of Hollywood, Fla., was a recent house guest of Mrs. George Van Camp, 307 Oakwood Place.

Lutheran Women Set Meetings

Women's groups of Trinity Lutheran Church have set meetings for the coming week. Women of the Church Bible Study members will meet 7:30 p.m. Monday in the church parlor.

Monday Club Program Is American Folklore

Monday Club met the evening of Jan 24th in the meeting room of the Pickaway County Historical Society. Mrs. William Cox, president, presided over the brief business meeting preceding the program.

Mrs. Tom Renick gave a discussion of American Folklore and introduced her paper with a quotation from Life Magazine's "Treasury of American Folklore."

In 1872, many years after she had won fame as the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Harriet Beecher Stowe, at the age of sixty, wrote out of her childhood experience — "There was no theater, no opera ... when winter came and the sun went down at half past four o'clock and left the long dark hours of the evening to be provided for, the necessity of amusement became urgent. Hence in those days chimney-corner story telling became an art and an accomplishment. Society then was full of traditions and narratives, which had all the uncertain glow and shifting mystery of the firelit hearth."

There is no better description of the magic quality of folklore. It may also serve as a definition of folklore as a collection of traditional narratives, old-timers' memories, pithy sayings, ghost stories, twangy ballads, and outrageous exaggerations. Folklore is sometimes vulgar, sometimes wisdom; sometimes it is history suffused with legend, not quite factual, not completely unfactual.

The folklore of this country, is not only loved, chuckled over and wondered at; it is also studied. The Journal of American Folklore has been published since 1888 by the American Folklore Society. This is a scholarly periodical which strives to collect and preserve the best, not only of American folklore, but also folklore from every corner of the globe. This necessitates extensive study and research but sadly enough, often the place, date, and name of the informant is not recorded.

In spite of this missing information, folklore provides insight into what the people of the past hoped and thought and feared during their lives. For example, history tells us when and how Columbus discovered America. However, the tales of the "Sea of Darkness", that unknown part of the Atlantic beyond the Azores and Greenland, reveal the horrors his men feared as they sailed west and also the dreams they had of wealth to be found. This is accepted as folklore.

There are three traditions of literature which flourish in a country like ours, namely the literary tradition, the popular tradition, and the oral or folk tradition.

The literary tradition represents material written and read by persons of some education. This is learned in our schools and colleges. It helps to form the bulk of our beliefs, ideals, and standards and is passed on to our children.

The oral or folk tradition is material that men and women who can't, don't, or won't write, pass on from generation to generation by word of mouth.

Folklore cannot survive in a set form. It is constantly changing and this process is its life blood. When it is halted by printing or recording it becomes static. It comes alive again only when it flows back into oral circulation.

However, it is popular tradition, that is most troublesome. This is where we find all sorts of promotional material which is scattered to huge groups of people through mass media. Figures like Pecos Bill and Paul Bunyon are promoted in order to provide local color that will attract tourists. Billy the Kid and Davy Crockett are transformed, by script writers, into television heroes to sell cereal. These all fall within the popular tradition.

It is difficult, even for the experts, to distinguish clearly between popular tradition and folk tradition. All freely absorb and exchange material. Consider this instance — Dan Emmett, the minstrel, wrote two songs, "I Wish I Was In Dixie" and "Old Dan Tucker." Both are known to millions of Americans. "Dixie" is a popular song that has never entered folk tradition. "Old Dan Tucker" was used as a party and square dance song. It has been changed, many new stanzas added, and has been re-created so completely and so often in oral transmission that it is now a genuine folk song. However, not so long ago, a version of "Old Dan Tucker" was being played by disc jockeys all across the nation. Therefore, one version, rewritten, had re-entered popular tradition.

There is much confusion in American folklore. This is to be expected in a nation as culturally diverse as America. Indeed, in a nation that came into being so recently and so rapidly it may be risky to insist that a national folklore exists at all. True there is a popular lore that is national in character, and which is known to the nation as a whole. This is the lore that is national in character magazines and newspapers and see and hear on radio and television. Actually, the folk, themselves, learn almost nothing of such matter through the oral tradition.

So, what of the future? Will we lose the old traditions, the old superstitions, the old folk tales to our new rising generation or will the best survive?

Details Of Kissinger Trips To Secret Talks Disclosed

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Kissinger used five separate routes, each carefully calculated to disguise his destination and purpose, when he commuted regularly to Paris on his super-secret peace missions. Friendly Frenchmen lent invaluable help as President Nixon's national security adviser conducted without detection the 30-month, 12-conference series of talks with North Vietnamese officials.

So secret were Kissinger's journeys that fewer than five persons in the White House knew full details.

But, it now appears, Nixon himself almost blew Kissinger's cover—before a national television audience, no less—when he apparently confused the private and public talks and mentioned an offer he later indicated was made secretly.

These are among major points that have emerged since Nixon's Tuesday night address in which he disclosed Kissinger's 100,000-mile search for peace and left the world wondering: How did Henry do it?

Kissinger himself won't divulge precise details of his covert travels because, he told a news conference Wednesday, "we may want to do it again."

He would say only: "We generally flew to American military bases and then transferred once or twice until we wound up... at some little-used airfields near Paris and then we generally stayed in the outskirts with the people we used as contacts... we generally met in a meeting place furnished by the other side..."

But other details obtained from sources in Washington and Paris, filled in some of the blanks:

—Sometimes Kissinger would leave from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., on the outskirts of Washington. Other times he would leave from other U.S. airports.

—Sometimes he flew in jets clearly identified by their markings, including the blue-and-white color scheme, as belonging to the presidential fleet. Other times he flew in less-conspicuous government aircraft.

—Sometimes he would land at a U.S. air base in Europe, then shift to another plane for the shorter hop to Paris. Other times he would fly directly to French air bases near the capital.

Engineers Limit Dredging In Lakes

POINT CLEAR, Ala. (AP) — Concern over the effect of polluted dredge spoil on the environment of the Great Lakes has forced limitations on maintenance dredgings, an Army Corps of Engineers official says.

Maj. Gen. Ernest Graves, division engineer for the North Central Division for the Corps, said the amount of dredging has been reduced from the normal 10 million cubic yards annually to about seven million cubic yards.

Arctic Air Spreads Out Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A huge arctic air mass spread subzero cold from the northern Rockies to Kansas and Wisconsin today and brought cold-wave warnings to parts of Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico.

Showers and freezing rain along the southern edge of the cold front produced icy roads and hazardous driving conditions from the Texas Panhandle to Missouri.

Cold air sweeping over the Great Lakes scattered snow along the eastern and southern shores of the lakes.

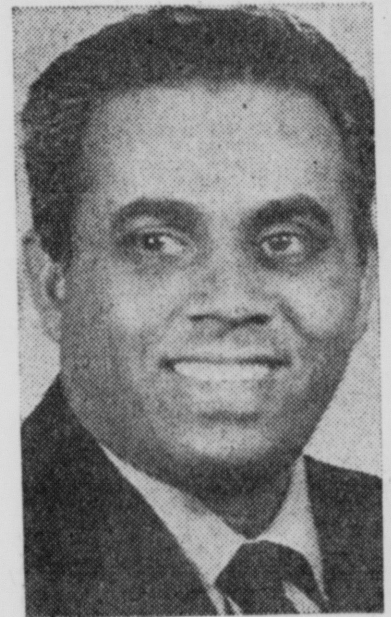

Another pocket of frigid air hung over northern New England, dropping temperatures to subzero levels in much of that region.

Fair weather and seasonal temperatures were confined to the Gulf and southern Atlantic coasts and the far Southwest.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 34 below zero at Cut Bank, Mont., to 73 at Key West, Fla.

Fire Destroys Noted Restaurant

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Damage was expected to run to several hundred thousand dollars in a fire that swept the plush White Horse Restaurant south of here Wednesday night.

About 75 customers and 50 employees were evacuated when flames burst through the kitchen floor and up through the roof of the frame, early-American-styled building on the Dixie Highway.

One fireman suffered minor injuries when a window broke, striking him.

Jack Jones Ordered To Pay Alimony

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Jack Jones is to give his former wife $1,000 a month, household furniture, a chess set and a painting of a dog under a divorce settlement reached in Superior Court.

Gretchen Jones, 22 for her part of the property settlement approved Tuesday, pledged to vacate the 33-year-old singer's house in suburban Sherman Oaks within a few days.

Bird Is Stolen From Laboratory

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — A 60-pound, 4½-foot-tall brown bird that can't fly and eats lots of vegetables, leaves and grass hoppers has been stolen from Cornell University's ornithology laboratory.

A university spokesman said Tuesday the bird, a Darwins Rhea, had been missing for about a week from its fenced-in enclosure. A broken lock and other evidence of a forced entry were found, the spokesman said.

Details Of Kissinger Trips To Secret Talks Disclosed

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Kissinger used five separate routes, each carefully calculated to disguise his destination and purpose, when he commuted regularly to Paris on his super-secret peace missions. Friendly Frenchmen lent invaluable help as President Nixon's national security adviser conducted without detection the 30-month, 12-conference series

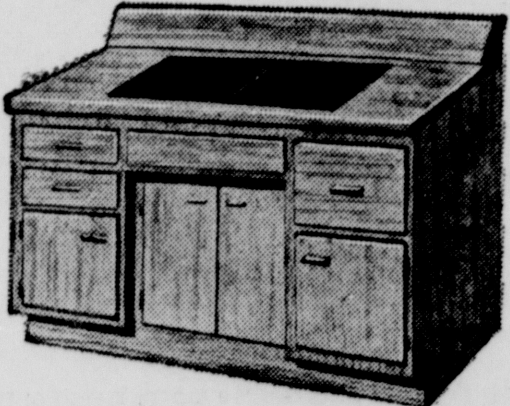

SPEAKER — The Rev. P. K. Sam from India, will speak and show slides of his country 7:30 p.m. Sunday at Emanuel United Methodist Church on Georgia Road. Rev. Sam, a student at Malone College, spent part of last year in India with his family. Upon graduation he will return to India.

Fire Destroys Noted Restaurant

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Damage was expected to run to several hundred thousand dollars in a fire that swept the plush White Horse Restaurant south of here Wednesday night. About 75 customers and 50 employees were evacuated when flames burst through the kitchen floor and up through the roof of the frame, early-American-styled building on the Dixie Highway. One fireman suffered minor injuries when a window broke, striking him.

of talks with North Vietnamese officials. So secret were Kissinger's journeys that fewer than five persons in the White House knew full details. But, it now appears, Nixon himself almost blew Kissinger's cover—before a national television audience, no less—when he apparently confused the private and public talks and mentioned an offer he later indicated was made secretly.

These are among major points that have emerged since Nixon's Tuesday night address in which he disclosed Kissinger's 100,000-mile search for peace and left the world wondering: How did Henry do it?

Kissinger himself won't divulge precise details of his covert travels because, he told a news conference Wednesday, "we may want to do it again."

He would say only: "We generally flew to American military bases and then transferred once or twice until we wound up... at some little-used airfields near Paris and then we generally stayed in the outskirts with the people we used as contacts... we gener-

Jack Jones Ordered To Pay Alimony

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Jack Jones is to give his former wife $1,000 a month, household furniture, a chess set and a painting of a dog under a divorce settlement reached in Superior Court.

Gretchen Jones, 22 for her part of the property settlement approved Tuesday, pledged to vacate the 33-year-old singer's house in suburban Sherman Oaks within a few days.

Bird Is Stolen From Laboratory

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — A 60-pound, 4½-foot-tall brown bird that can't fly and eats lots of vegetables, leaves and grass hoppers has been stolen from Cornell University's ornithology laboratory.

A university spokesman said Tuesday the bird, a Darwins Rhea, had been missing for about a week from its fenced-in enclosure. A broken lock and other evidence of a forced entry were found, the spokesman said.

ally met in a meeting place furnished by the other side...

But other details obtained from sources in Washington and Paris, filled in some of the blanks:

—Sometimes Kissinger would leave from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., on the outskirts of Washington. Other times he would leave from other U.S. airports.

—Sometimes he flew in jets clearly identified by their markings, including the blue-and-white color scheme, as belonging to the presidential fleet. Other times he flew in less-conspicuous government aircraft.

—Sometimes he would land at a U.S. air base in Europe, then shift to another plane for the shorter hop to Paris. Other times he would fly directly to French air bases near the capital.

Arctic Air Spreads Out Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A huge arctic air mass spread subzero cold from the northern Rockies to Kansas and Wisconsin today and brought cold-wave warnings to parts of Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico.

Showers and freezing rain along the southern edge of the cold front produced icy roads and hazardous driving conditions from the Texas Panhandle to Missouri.

Cold air sweeping over the Great Lakes scattered snow along the eastern and southern shores of the lakes. Another pocket of frigid air hung over northern New England, dropping temperatures to subzero levels in much of that region.

Fair weather and seasonal temperatures were confined to the Gulf and southern Atlantic coasts and the far Southwest.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 34 below zero at Cut Bank, Mont., to 73 at Key West, Fla.

Property Tax Computer Bank Is Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A statewide computer based in Columbus with terminals in county courthouses was suggested Wednesday as a means of keeping Ohio's tax appraisal records up to date.

The suggestion came from Rep. Donald E. Pease, D-75 Oberlin, as the Ways and Means Committees of both houses of the legislature debated how to implement the uniform tax appraisals throughout the state.

Pease asked James E. Ducey of the Board of Tax Appeals, if the computer set-up would be practical.

"Not entirely," said Ducey. He explained that construction costs that go into the appraisal of buildings vary from city to city and are constantly changing.

The computer approach, he added, could be helpful.

Members of the Board of Tax Appeals and its staff were on hand as the hearings entered their second day.

The board has ruled that all real property in Ohio be taxed at 25 per cent of its market value for the 1972 tax year.

Ducey told the joint committee there is a need for trained appraisers in the field.

He said the board has one trained real estate man, two women employees and four examiners in the field.

"You can't sit in an office and use figures to assess real property," Ducey said.

The joint legislative committee is trying to devise up a method of implementing the equal percentage tax decision so that some taxing districts will not get financial windfalls while others lose money.

The Ohio Supreme Court had ordered uniform appraisals but left it to the Board of Tax Appeals to set the rate.

Nurse Report Submitted To Health Board

Pickaway County Health Nurse Helen Pickens submitted her report to the County Board of Health Tuesday night.

She noted that during the month of January, she administered 68 immunizations at Derby, Monroe, Scioto, Jackson, Ashville, Walnut and Washington schools.

She gave 21 DPT immunizations, 1 rubella, 9 rubella, 23 measles, 13 oral polio and one smallpox vaccination at the request of a parent.

A group of mothers screened 350 children at Jackson School and noted that 60 had defective vision. Mrs. Pickens rescreened the students and referred 28 to optometrists. She noted that several had already undergone examinations and one child received glasses through Lion's Club assistance.

In a vision testing follow-up at Monroe School, Mrs. Pickens found 18 children, of the 54 previously screened by mothers, to need vision assistance.

Six impetigo cases, who were unable to see a doctor, were treated.

She noted two children with repaired cleft palates needed follow-up care.

One child found having a condition similar to torticollis was referred to a family doctor.

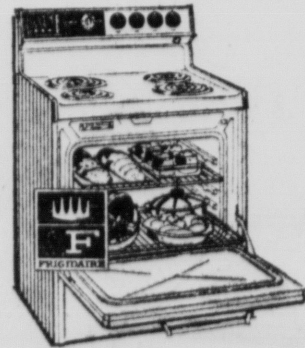

She made several home visits as requested by school principals and had a conference with Donald Shearer, superintendent of Westfall School District, regarding pre-school clinics that have been arranged for May 11 at Derby, May 8 at Jackson and May 1 at Monroe.

She assisted with clinics at Berger Hospital by visiting four patients discharged from the hospital. She made a home visit to a post-partum case, a leg amputation victim, a premature infant, and made two auxiliary visits for a tuberculosis suspect and one home visit.

She agreed to serve on the PICCA Board and discussed plans regarding future cooperation of agencies health needs of children.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Mistress Gets 'Facts Of Life'

DEAR ABBY: May I give for a foursome of bridge. We accepted.

Never expect to see him on Sunday or holidays.

Never call him at home.

Don't ever expect him to take you out in public but be prepared to entertain him at your place. He may bring a bottle or the steaks occasionally, but in actual dollar and cents you will spend more on him than he'll spend on you.

Never depend on him in times of personal crisis.

Don't believe him when he tells you his wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat, or too thin, and she hasn't slept with him for 10 years.

Don't ever expect his wife to divorce him even if she catches him. She knows that you are not his first and won't be his last. Also she is not about to give up her social status, financial security and retirement income because of you. However her discovery will probably terminate his affair with you, so be prepared to get some new clothes, circulate, and find another married man whose wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat (or too thin) and hasn't slept with him for 10 years. Sign me

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Bravo! Thanks for sharing.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently met a very attractive and charming couple. We took to each other on first meeting and they asked us if we played bridge. We said we did, so they invited us over for a foursome of bridge. We accepted.

Abby, my husband and I enjoy bridge, but they took the game so seriously, that they nearly came to blows with each other! All evening long they were making sarcastic remarks to each other and my husband and I didn't enjoy the evening one bit.

We invited them to our home (avoiding any mention of cards when we asked them), but we ended up playing bridge, again anyway. This time was worse than the first!

They have since twice invited us over for bridge and I said we were "busy"—which we weren't.

They are a charming couple when they aren't playing bridge and we'd like to see them again. If they invite us again, would it be proper for us to accept and suggest we don't play cards?

NORTH AND SOUTH
DEAR NORTH: Certainly. That's one way of finding out if it's your company they want, for a foursome for bridge.

DEAR ABBY: When my wife and I were married, she was 33, and I was 41. She said at the time she didn't want any children until she was sure our marriage would last. Well, it's lasted for 11 years, and she's still not sure.

I told her if she doesn't make up her mind by next Easter, she will have to get another "Daddy" for any children she plans to have, because I am not about to start raising kids in my middle fifties.

If you can provide me with any other arguments for my side, please let me have them. Thank you.

DEAR NO KIDS: I think you are the one who's being kidded. Your wife doesn't really want any children. There are exceptions; of course, but a Daddy who's old enough for social Security is hardly enough for touch football.

New Reservoir Placed In Use

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — The 2.2-billion gallon Killdeer Reservoir was placed officially in operation Wednesday by Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Firing of a flare gun signaled the start of pumps that will operate until the reservoir is filled.

The governor spoke during a brief ceremony at the wind-swept site situated in the Killdeer Plains Wildlife Area in Wyandot County.

Charges Dropped Against Witness

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. Justice Department has dropped two counts of perjury against Dillard Couch, a witness in the federal grand jury investigation here two years ago into the slaying of United Mine Workers official Joseph Yablonski.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert Jones said Tuesday that the Justice Department had decided "not to proceed further with prosecution," but would not elaborate except to say that the charges were dropped officially Monday.

Sharp Pull - Top Lids Bring Criticism From Congressman

By CARL C. CRAFT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House public health subcommittee chairman says lid-licking kids are cutting their tongues on sharp edges because industry won't stop using metal pull-top cans for pudding and fruit.

There's a one-billion-can market for these school-lunchbox treats packed in pull-top containers and the "potential danger to consumers—especially those youngsters in kindergarten and grade school—is tremendous," Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., head of the subcommittee which handles health and food-safety legislation, said at a news conference.

Walter Winchell Reported Improved

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former columnist Walter Winchell was reported in improved condition at the UCLA Medical Center, but hospital spokesmen declined to say what's wrong with him.

Winchell, 74, has been in the center since Nov. 19 and has been in and out of the hospital several times during the last few years, a spokesman said.

Rogers said he hopes industry "will respond on its own—and, if it doesn't, we will take necessary action" legislatively.

Rogers said children "have a natural tendency to lick the pudding off the lids and this had led to cut tongues. The lids and the sharp rims of the cans have resulted in cuts to the fingers and the tongue of both children and adults."

Limited statistics "which are now available would indicate the literally tens of thousands of children use these types of cans and the injuries which are related to them would conservatively range from 50,000 upward," Rogers said.

Immediate action is needed, he added, but "despite the in-

Rogers said Hunt Wesson Foods, Inc., of Fullerton, Calif., has 55 per cent of the market. Other firms making the products, he said, are Del Monte Corp. of San Francisco; General Mills, Inc. of Minneapolis; General Foods Corp. of White Plains, N.Y.; R. J. Reynolds Foods, Inc., of New York City,

Sen. Robert Stockdale To Retire In 1974

KENT, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Robert E. Stockdale R-31, Kent, said today that he would complete the remaining three years of his term then retire.

Stockdale said his decision not to run again was "a personally difficult one" because his new 18th district would have been, "for the most part, the geographical location which I have represented in the Ohio Senate for the past decade."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Mistress Gets 'Facts Of Life'

DEAR ABBY: May I give your readers the benefit of my very valuable experience? I address this to any woman who is "in love" with a married man:

Never expect to see him on Sunday or holidays.

Never call him at home.

Don't ever expect him to take you out in public but be prepared to entertain him at your place. He may bring a bottle or the steaks occasionally, but in actual dollar and cents you will spend more on him than he'll spend on you.

Never depend on him in times of personal crisis.

Don't believe him when he tells you his wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat, or too thin, and she hasn't slept with him for 10 years.

Don't ever expect his wife to divorce him-even if she catches him. She knows that you are not his first and won't be his last. Also she is not about to give up her social status, financial security and retirement income because of you. However her discovery will probably terminate his affair with you, so be prepared to get some new clothes, circulate, and find another married man whose wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat (or too thin) and hasn't slept with him for 10 years. Sign me

DEAR WIFE: Bravo! Thanks for sharing.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently met a very attractive and charming couple. We took to each other on first meeting and they asked us if we played bridge. We said we did, so they invited us over for a foursome of bridge. We accepted.

Abby, my husband and I enjoy bridge, but they took the game so seriously, that they nearly came to blows with each other! All evening long they were making sarcastic remarks to each other and my husband and I didn't enjoy the evening one bit.

We invited them to our home (avoiding any mention of cards when we asked them), but we ended up playing bridge, again anyway. This time was worse than the first!

They have since twice invited us over for bridge and I said we were "busy"—which we weren't.

They are a charming couple when they aren't playing bridge and we'd like to see them again. If they invite us again, would it be proper for us to accept and suggest we don't play cards?

Ex-Prison Inmate Success With Parrot Training Plan

By PAT LEISNER —
Associated Press Writer
SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Prison is for the birds, says an ex-con who can prove it.

Charles Jeffries has parlayed a parrot training program into a parole, a $25,000 business and a passport to freedom for other prisoners.

He is now instructor of animal psychology at the Institute for Men at Chino, Calif., a minimum security prison.

The 50-year-old Jeffries was serving 18 months at Chino on a securities law violation in 1968 when he hit on the animal rehabilitation project.

He had worked animal acts before specializing in parrots, and won approval to start an informal training club. It mushroomed and he submitted an outline for a federal grant.

Jeff Wood, manager of Sara-sota's Jungle Gardens, had done his college thesis on correctional rehabilitation. He heard about Jeffries' program and made the job contact for Jeffries with the California prison system.

"This was about the only thing of its kind going on in the country," said Wood. "The more I learned about it, the more I was impressed."

Jeffries said in three years 125 prisoners have taken his course and 100 have been paroled. Two have been arrested and returned to jail, he said.

"Inside you see men with high IQs, sitting in a cell rotting," said the Palm Springs, Calif., man. "Nothing to motivate them."

When they are granted parole, he said, they're given a few bucks a pat on the back and they're back in a cellblock in a year.

"All they needed to learn was self-control and work habits," he explained.

"It's a wonder he didn't convince the judge out of his gavel," Don DeSaw, one of Jeffries' pupils at Chino, said with a grin.

The 35-year-old DeSaw is a recent parolee who spent 10 years behind bars.

Bankrupt Bus Firm Taken Over

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Megacity Transit Lines, a Dayton suburban bus firm, was granted temporary authority by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio Wednesday to take over all routes of the financially-troubled Ohio Bus Line.

Ohio Bus Line routes linked Dayton with Middletown, Hamilton, Cincinnati, Oxford, Lebanon, Sharonville, Eaton and Richmond, Ind.

PUCO Chairman Henry Eckert said the action was taken after the commission was notified that Ohio Bus Line would file for bankruptcy today.

Megacity is a feeder line linking the Dayton business area with several suburban communities.

Eckert said three temporary permits, each valid for 180 days, were issued to Randal St.
John, Megacity president, to operate all routes handled until Wednesday by Ohio Bus Line.

He said one involved a route from Dayton to Middletown, Hamilton and Cincinnati with linking service to Oxford and Richmond. A second permit, he said, is for service linking Cincinnati, Hamilton and Eaton, and the third permit involves service between Lebanon and Sharonville.

Author Again Says Hughes Took Checks For Book

NEW YORK (AP) — Author
Clifford Irving again says he personally handed Howard R.
Hughes a check for $275,000 in partial payment for the billion-aire's autobiography and Hughes replied, "Thanks."

Irving said he had laryngitis and let his lawyer, Martin S.
Ackerman, do most of the talking at a truncated Kennedy airport news conference Wednesday after arriving here from Spain.

"Cliff is here through me," Ackerman told reporters. "He has met Hughes, the book will come out, it will be a successful book, and it will be authentic."

Hughes, in purported signed affidavits and a telephone interview, has called the unpublished Irving book a fake, denied ever meeting with the author and said he never received $650,000 which McGraw-Hill publishing Co. says it paid him.

On Wednesday, state Supreme Court Justice Gerald P.
Culkin ruled that a notarized affidavit disclaiming any knowledge of Irving or authorization for his book was a valid
Hughes document.

"This is probably the most horrible experience I've ever gone through," Irving said. He has maintained that he delivered McGraw-Hill checks of $275,000 and $50,000 to Hughes personally and gave one for $325,000 to a bona fide Hughes representative.

Swiss police are searching for a woman identified as H.R.
Hughes who apparently deposited the three checks into a Swiss account and later withdrew the money.

A police spokesman in Zurich reported that Spanish officials have been asked to check the whereabouts of Irving's wife, Edith, when the money was withdrawn by the mystery woman.

Dental Work Figures In Case

CARROLLTON, Ohio (AP) —
James Russell testified
Wednesday that there was no gold in his mouth and opened his mouth to let the jury see.

Two prosecution witnesses had testified that one way they recognized Russell Oct. 16 despite a mask over his face was by one or two gold capped teeth in his mouth. Russell, a United Mine Workers organizer, is on trial in Carroll County Common Pleas Court for malicious destruction of property in connection with the Oct. 16 vandalism at the James Brothers
Co. coal mine.

Both prosecution witnesses were recalled following Russell's surprise testimony. John Pothorski, a deputy sheriff, told the court he saw a gold capped tooth on the left side of Russell's mouth at the James mine
Oct. 16 and said he saw the gold again Dec. 30 when deputies took a deposition from Russell.

Viewing Russell's mouth in court, Pothorski said the gold cap now has been removed.

Bankrupt Bus Firm Taken Over

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Megacity Transit Lines, a Dayton suburban bus firm, was granted temporary authority by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio Wednesday to take over all routes of the financially-troubled Ohio Bus Line.

Ohio Bus Line routes linked Dayton with Middletown, Hamilton, Cincinnati, Oxford, Lebanon, Sharonville, Eaton and Richmond, Ind.

PUCO Chairman Henry Eckert said the action was taken after the commission was notified that Ohio Bus Line would file for bankruptcy today.

Megacity is a feeder line linking the Dayton business area with several suburban communities.

Eckert said three temporary permits, each valid for 180 days, were issued to Raland St. John, Megacity president, to operate all routes handled until Wednesday by Ohio Bus Line.

He said one involved a route from Dayton to Middletown, Hamilton and Cincinnati with linking service to Oxford and Richmond. A second permit, he said, is for service linking Cincinnati, Hamilton and Eaton, and the third permit involves service between Lebanon and Sharonville.

Author Again Says Hughes Took Checks For Book

NEW YORK (AP) — Author Clifford Irving again says he personally handed Howard R. Hughes a check for $275,000 in partial payment for the billionaire's autobiography and Hughes replied, "Thanks."

Irving said he had laryngitis and let his lawyer, Martin S. Ackerman, do most of the talking at a truncated Kennedy airport news conference Wednesday after arriving here from Spain.

"Cliff is here through me," Ackerman told reporters. "He has met Hughes, the book will come out, it will be a successful book, and it will be authentic."

Hughes, in purported signed affidavits and a telephone interview, has called the unpublished Irving book a fake, denied ever meeting with the author and said he never received $650,000 which McGraw-Hill publishing Co. says it paid him.

On Wednesday, state Supreme Court Justice Gerald P. Calkin ruled that a notarized affidavit disclaiming any knowledge of Irving or authorization for his book was a valid Hughes document.

"This is probably the most horrible experience I've ever gone through," Irving said. He has maintained that he delivered McGraw-Hill checks of $275,000 and $50,000 to Hughes personally and gave one for $325,000 to a bona fide Hughes representative.

Swiss police are searching for a woman identified as H.R. Hughes who apparently deposited the three checks into a Swiss account and later withdrew the money.

A police spokesman in Zurich reported that Spanish officials have been asked to check the whereabouts of Irving's wife, Edith, when the money was withdrawn by the mystery woman.

Dental Work Figures In Case

CARROLLTON, Ohio (AP) — James Russell testified Wednesday that there was no gold in his mouth and opened his mouth to let the jury see.

Two prosecution witnesses had testified that one way they recognized Russell Oct. 16 despite a mask over his face was by one or two gold capped teeth in his mouth. Russell, a United Mine Workers organizer, is on trial in Carroll County Common Pleas Court for malicious destruction of property in connection with the Oct. 16 vandalism at the James Brothers Co. coal mine.

Both prosecution witnesses were recalled following Russell's surprise testimony. John Pothorski, a deputy sheriff, told the court he saw a gold capped tooth on the left side of Russell's mouth at the James mine Oct. 16 and said he saw the gold again Dec. 30 when deputies took a deposition from Russell.

Viewing Russell's mouth in court, Pothorski said the gold cap now has been removed.

Ex-Prison Inmate Success With Parrot Training Plan

By PAT LEISNER — Associated Press Writer
SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Prison is for the birds, says an ex-con who can prove it.

Charles Jeffries has parlayed a parrot training program into a parole, a $25,000 business and a passport to freedom for other prisoners.

He is now instructor of animal psychology at the Institute for Men at Chino, Calif., a minimum security prison.

The 50-year-old Jeffries was serving 18 months at Chino on a securities law violation in 1968 when he hit on the animal rehabilitation project.

He had worked animal acts before specializing in parrots, and won approval to start an informal training club. It mushroomed and he submitted an outline for a federal grant.

Jeff Wood, manager of Sarasota's Jungle Gardens, had done his college thesis on correctional rehabilitation. He heard about Jeffries' program and made the job contact for Jeffries with the California prison system.

"This was about the only thing of its kind going on in the country," said Wood. "The more I learned about it, the more I was impressed."

Jeffries said in three years 125 prisoners have taken his course and 100 have been paroled. Two have been arrested and returned to jail, he said.

"Inside you see men with high IQs, sitting in a cell rotting," said the Palm Springs, Calif., man. "Nothing to motivate them."

When they are granted parole, he said, they're given a few bucks a pat on the back and they're back in a cellblock in a year.

"All they needed to learn was self-control and work habits," he explained.

"It's a wonder he didn't con the judge out of his gavel," Don DeSaw, one of Jeffries' pupils at Chino, said with a grin.

The 35-year-old DeSaw is a recent parolee who spent 10 years behind bars.

News Columnist Ollie James Dies

CINCINNATI (AP) — Services will be Saturday for Ollie James, 63, retired humor columnist and chief editorial writer of The Cincinnati Enquirer. He died Wednesday following a lengthy illness.

James, who came to The Enquirer in 1936, began his humor in 1940. It ran daily until his illness began in June 1970.

The column featured what he called "cleaned up jokes" and a humorous view of his life and times. He wrote frequently about his frogs, raccoons and other wildlife at his northern Kentucky home which he called "Bullfrog Holler."

Pay Board OKs 10-Per-Cent Wage Boost For Trainmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bitterly divided Pay Board again has ignored its own wage guidelines, this time conditionally approving a 10-per-cent pay raise this year for 140,000 railroad trainmen.

But it is uncertain whether the AFL-CIO United Transportation Union will honor the long-delayed pact, which contains streamlined work rules the railroad industry says will speed service and eventually save money.

The UTU had demanded full approval of the pact before putting the new work rules into effect. UTU President A.H. Chesler refused to comment on Tuesday's almost-total approval until he receives official notification of it.

The full UTU contract contains raises of 42 per cent over 3½ years, retroactive more than two years to Jan. 1, 1970. The board cleared the agreement until the present, and said it intends to approve two raises totaling 10 per cent this year if the work rules are put into effect. That leaves uncertain the fate of two raises totaling 5 per cent next year.

The approval motion, which passed 8 to 5 with five labor members and three business members in the majority, in effect grants yet another exception to the board's general rule that wages in new contracts can't go up more than 5.5 per cent a year, or 7 per cent in special circumstances.

The board has yet to apply its 5.5-per-cent guideline strictly to any of the powerful unions whose agreements it has reviewed so far. It rejected a 12-per-cent raise for aerospace workers but then said it would approve the entire raise if part of it is moved to the second year of a three-year pact.

Tuesday's motion approving the bulk of the UTU contract was sponsored by business member Benjamin F. Biagini, a railroad executive who sources say strongly wants to see the new work rules put into effect, whatever the price in wages.

Although the board's official spokesmen declined to give details of Tuesday's voting, other sources said the five labor members and three business members made up the majority. Four public members and Chicago publisher Robert Bassett, a business member, voted no. Chairman George H. Boldt abstained and business member Virgil Day left the room during voting.

Sources said that after approval of the trainmen's contract, UAW Vice President Pat Greathouse moved to reinstate the rejected 12 per cent aerospace raise. This move was defeated 9 to 5 with labor in the minority.

"I sometimes tell children that the way an author mixes fact and fiction in a book is like the blowing up of a balloon. First you take a small scrap of rubber, which is your fact, and then you blow it full of your own breath which is your fancy. You blow and blow and blow, and, if it doesn't break, you will soon have a fine big red balloon, and that is your book."

So says Carol Ryrke Brink, whose 1935 story of "Caddie Woodlawn" remains one of the most popular titles in the Sneek-A-Peek room. That particular book was based on stories her grandmother told her about her pioneer Wisconsin childhood.

Mrs. Brink has written for both adults and children. Her published titles number close to 25. In addition, she has made numberless contributions of short stories and poems to popular magazines. She appears to be one of those "born writers" who begin story telling in early childhood and fashion their adult lives around writing.

Like many successful authors she had a leisurely childhood in which there was ample time for solitary play and reflection. Her husband, also a writer, works in mathematics, so they do not share their tasks. She likes to travel, and enjoys painting and nature study.

Children's books by Mrs. Brink which are carried by the library include "Andy Buckram's Tin Men", "Family Grandstand", "Family Sabatinal", "Lad With A Whistle", "Magical Melons", and most recently, "Two Are Better Than One" and "Winter Cottage." Five of her adult titles available are "Buffalo Coat", "The Headland", "Snow in the River", "Strangers in the Forest" and "Twin Cities."

She has been awarded the John Newberry Medal, the Friends of American Writers award, and the National League of Pen Women fiction award.

Such a prolific and successful writer deserves attention. Introduce your children to Caddie Woodlawn, and watch them search for her other books.

Rabies Victim Matt Winkler Notes Birthday

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — The boy who made medical history one year ago as the first human known to recover from rabies will celebrate his eighth birthday and his recovery Thursday at St. Rita's Hospital.

Matthew Winkler of Willshire, Ohio, will commemorate the first anniversary of his release from St. Rita's, where he stayed nearly three months. Doctors doubted whether Matt would live after he had developed rabies from a bat's bite on his finger.

The boy's first request after he left the hospital last year was pizza—so he'll get cake and pizza.

The boy with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Winkler, six-year-old sister Valerie and other relatives will be honored in the nurses' assembly hall of the hospital by doctors, nurses and employees.

"We are more excited about the party than Matt is," Mrs. Winkler said. "I guess at this point he takes everything for granted. He does want to see the nurses and I hope they all come."

Although two of the doctors who attended Matt at the hospital won't be able to attend the party, Matt's Lima pediatrician Dr. C. John Stechschulte, will come.

"Matt only has to see us periodically," Stechschulte said. "There is no limit on his activities and he had a great summer on the farm."

Matt's father is a farmer who has been laid off for some time from the General Electric Co. plant in nearby Decatur, Ind., but expects to return to work soon.

Indians, Vikings Are Tigers' Foes

It will be double road action for Circleville's Tigers this week when they travel to Hillsboro Friday night to take on the Indians in a South Central Ohio League clash and meet Teays Valley Saturday night on the Vikings' court.

Circleville with a 4-2 record in the league must win if the Tigers are to remain in the race for a share of the league crown. Miami Trace and Greenfield are tied for the lead with 5-1 records but have to meet each other again while the Tigers still have another game with Greenfield on their schedule.

Hillsboro has been improving with each outing and has won two out of the last three games. The Indians utilize a 1-2-2 offense with all-league forward

Bruce Murphy setting the pace. Murphy and Jeff Hodson give the Hillsboro team good rebounding strength.

Defensively the Indians use a man to man and a 2-2-1 half-court press.

Hillsboro will probably start an all senior unit with Charlie Gorman, 5-foot-9, and Eric Bailey, 6-foot-2, at the guards, 6-foot-4 Hodson at center with Karl Frydryk, 6-foot, and Murphy, 6-foot-1, at the forward posts.

The flu bug has hit the Tigers this week and Coach John Lawhorn will decide on a lineup Friday night which will be influenced by the condition of his players.

It should be a jam-packed house at Teays Valley Saturday night when the Tigers invade the realm of the Vikings.

The Tigers downed Teays Valley 86-73, earlier this season but Coach Bob Hoover and his Vikings have begun to put it all together recently and will be going full speed against the Red and Black.

Eau Claire Widens Lead In Cage Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eau Claire won twice last week and increased its lead in The Associated Press small college basketball poll. The Blue-Golds defeated River Falls 88-64 and Stout 85-66.

The Wisconsin school picked up 11 of 19 first-place ballots cast in nationwide balloting today by sportswriters and sportscasters and garnered 353 points, 47 more than No. 2 Louisiana Tech, which received four votes for first.

Tennessee State, No. 3, Eastern Michigan, Fairmont State and Western Washington State each received one vote for the top spot.

Alabama State is new to the Top 10 with an eighth-place finish while last week's No. 9, Assumption, was bumped from the standings.

The Top 10 with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on the basis of 20 for first, 18 for second, 16, 14, 12, 10, 9, 8, etc.

Nets Defeat Colonels; Win 118-105

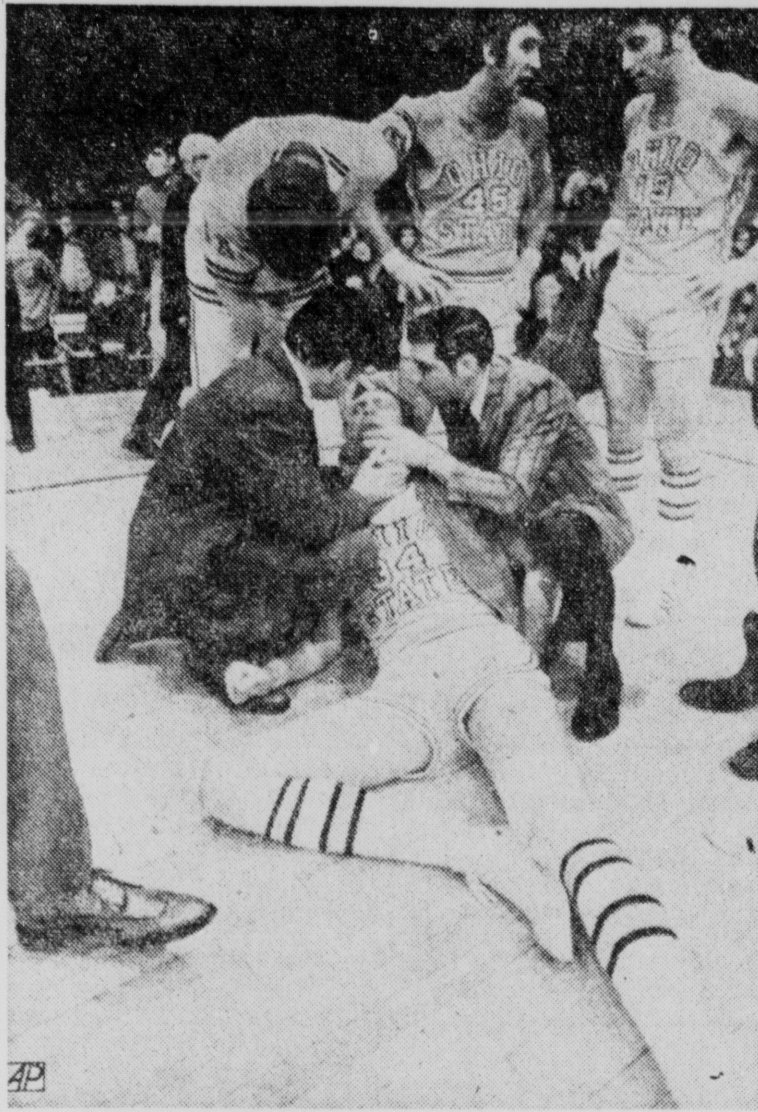

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Nets won an American Basketball Association game Wednesday night—which is not so unusual, since they are near .500 with a 25-28 won-lost mark.

The team they beat was the Kentucky Colonels—and that is unusual.

"We really wanted to beat Kentucky," declared John Roche, who poured in a career high 31 points to pace the Nets to a 118-105 decision over the East Division-leading Colonels. Kentucky had beaten New York the last five times the teams met and led 6-1 in the season series.

"They look like the team we're going to be playing in the playoffs," explained Roche, looking ahead. "We had to beat them or else we would have been wondering if they owned us when we got to the playoffs."

Kentucky's game at New York was the only one scheduled for the ABA Wednesday.

Cage Officials Stay Mum On OSU-Minnesota Brawl

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The Ohio State basketball team has returned home following Wednesday's day-long probe of a brawl which ended the previous night's Big Ten game at Minnesota.

Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke met with athletic directors of the two schools and viewed news films of the events leading up to the melee, but did not issue any statement about the investigation.

Luke Witte and Mark Wagar, two Ohio State players who were held overnight at University of Minnesota Hospitals for observation, returned to Columbus with the team. X-rays showed they had no fractures.

Commissioner Duke had said prior to Wednesday's meetings that he and the athletic directors were "just going to review what happened and look at films." He did not rule out the possibility of action against any players as a result of the skirmish.

The brawl began when Ohio State was leading 50-44 with 36 seconds to play. The game later was called at that point on the clock.

Witte was fouled as he attempted to shoot by Minnesota forward Clyde Turner. The act was ruled a flagrant foul and

Turner was ejected. Gopher forward Corky Taylor said he "tried to pick Witte off the floor after he had gone down following the foul. As I pulled him up, he spat at me."

News films were not able to pick up the alleged spitting incident, but witnesses generally agreed that at that point, Taylor kneed Witte in the groin. Players from both benches streamed onto the floor, along with spectators, and a series of fights broke out.

The 16th-ranked Gophers are 4-1 in Big Ten action and 6th-ranked Ohio State is 4-0, the victory giving them the league lead.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Big Ten's investigation of a basketball brawl at the Ohio State-Minnesota game Tuesday night moved here today with officials expected to interview OSU coach Fred Taylor and the injured players.

Taylor, meanwhile, was faced with the problem of whether 7-foot junior center Luke Witte and 6-5 senior guard Mark Wagar will be able to play in another important Big Ten contest at Michigan Saturday.

Big Ten Commissioner

Wayne Duke and supervisor of officials Herman Rohrig came to Columbus Wednesday after completing what they called an "inconclusive" investigation at Minneapolis.

"Further review of films and additional interviews with various principals will be necessary before any decision can be reached," Duke said.

During the melee, Witte and reserve forward Mark Wagar suffered slight concussions and abrasions. Minor sustained a bump on the back of the head and later blacked out in the team locker room after the game.

Circleville Wrestlers Subdue Bishop Ready

Circleville's varsity wrestling squad downed Bishop Ready, 39-21, in a dual meet Wednesday at Ready but the Tiger reserves dropped a 21-16 decision to the Silver Knights.

Mark Scherer, Jeff Harr, Dave Webb, Mike Chelickowsky, Stuart Moore, Mark Davey and Tom Frericks came up with victories in their matches. Joe Smith was a winner by forfeit and Steve Watters gained a tie in his match.

Circleville will be at Franklin Heights 1 p.m. Saturday in a tri meet with Watterson.

Here are the results of the varsity matches:

98-Pound — Mark Scherer decisioned Balmert, 5-1.
105-Pound — Steve Watters tied Visantine, 5-5.

Capital Edges Wittenberg, 57-55

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Defending Ohio Conference champion Capital, the winningest team in Ohio, had a few frantic moments Wednesday night.

The Crusaders saw a comfortable 13-point lead over Wittenberg dwindle to a mere 2 points late in the game and had visions of suffering their first loss and dropping from the league lead.

But Capital hung on for a 57-55 victory for its 17th straight win over two seasons, a new school record.

The win kept the Crusaders' OC mark unblemished at 5-0 to maintain a slight lead over Wooster (4-0) at the top of the conference heap.

Wittenberg, down 54-41 with six minutes to play, outscored Capital 14-3 in a five-minute stretch to make it 57-55.

During the last minute of play, neither team scored—Capital missed three free throws—and with nine seconds left on the clock the Tigers' Joe Hamilton got a rebound and tossed a 25-footer that rolled off the rim at the buzzer.

Scott Weakley of Capital led all shooters with 16 points. Wittenberg, now 4-1 in the league, was led by Pat Beasley with 12.

In a Mid-American Conference game, Kent State handed Bowling Green its fourth league loss in as many games, 75-65. The Golden Flashes led by Ruben Vance with 22 points, improved their MAC mark to 2-2.

Playing outside MAC, conference leader Toledo fell to Detroit, 77-73, in a game in which the lead changed hands three times in the final five minutes. The Titans' Bill Pleas made a layup and a free throw with 56 seconds left to play to ice the win for Detroit.

Dayton defeated neighboring Miami 66-60 behind the 29-point performance of sophomore guard Donald Smith. Miami, hitting only 36 per cent of its shots, was led by Phil Lumpkin with 14 points.

Urbana, which tied for the Mid-Ohio Conference championship by edging Ohio Dominican 89-78. The contest wasn't decided until Urbana's Bill Alkman converted a three-point play with 18 seconds left to play.

Freshman Fletcher netted 32 points in leading Wilmington to a 75-72 Hoosier-Buckeye Conference victory over Findlay.

Akron recorded its 14th win in 16 games by downing Hiram 85-71.

Other games: St. Joseph's, Pa. 75, Xavier 63; Ohio Northern 95, Adrian, Mich. 76; Malone 98, Walsh 76; Bluffton 80, Heidelberg 71; Case Western Reserve 94, Washington and Jefferson 82; Mount Union 111, Edinboro, Pa. 94; West Virginia Wesleyan 111, Marietta 103.

TOKYO (AP) — The International Olympic Committee's eligibility commission was holding a secret meeting here today to review the amateur status of competitors entered in the 11th Winter Olympic Games opening in Sapporo, northern Japan, Feb. 3.

But the IOC Secretariat declined to give any information on where the commission, headed by Chairman Hugh Weir of Australia, was meeting for the second day, when the meeting began and when it ended or was to end.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sure the guys were tired," New York Rangers Coach Emile Francis said, "but they didn't show it in the game."

The Rangers, particularly Jean Ratelle, Ted Irvine and Rod Gilbert, looked very much awake on the ice Wednesday night, leading a New York attack that overwhelmed the Buffalo Sabres 5-1. In the night's other National Hockey League action, St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 2-1 and Los Angeles turned back Toronto 5-3.

Cleveland Faces Water Plant Crisis

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland officials say that the uninsured, aging steam boilers at a near west side water pumping plant could break down at any time leaving 200,000 homes without water.

The city last year rejected a low bid to modernize the Division Avenue Pumping Station because the city's contract compliance office alleged the low-bidding firm had "inadequate minority employment."

Bullets Beat Braves In OT; Win 115-114

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
For the sports fan who believes nothing can be gained by calling time out with one second remaining in the game, don't believe it. Look at the Baltimore Bullets.

The Bullets won a 115-114 overtime decision over the Buffalo Braves in a National Basketball Association game Wednesday night. It was a comeback effort for Buffalo which trailed at halftime 59-48, and tied the game 103-103 at the end of regulation on a jump shot by Elmore Smith.

Buffalo went ahead in the overtime, 114-113 on two foul shots by Walt Hazzard with one second left. The Bullets called time out and set up an in-bounds-pass play.

Forward Gus Johnson passed into center Wes Unseld breaking for the basket. Unseld sank the winning shot at the buzzer.

In other NBA action Cleveland trimmed Boston 112-108. Seattle defeated Atlanta 131-119. Philadelphia topped Cincinnati 113-102. Milwaukee beat Detroit 120-94, and Chicago dropped Houston 117-108.

Jack Martin paced the Baltimore scoring with 31 points while teammates Archie Clark and Phil Chenier had 21 and 18, respectively. Hazzard scored 30 for the Braves. Bob Kauffman had 27 and Randy Smith 23.

Cleveland broke its 11-game losing streak with Johnny Johnson scoring 22 points and Butch Beard 23 against Boston. The Celtics blew a 14-point halftime lead with the Cavaliers gaining the edge for the first time with 3:47 left in the game. John Havlicek led Boston with 27 and Jo Jo White had 20.

COACH FIRED — Chicago Bears' Coach Jim Dooley, above, was fired with one year remaining on his five year contract.

CLOSE SHAVE — Darryl Hurst (34N) of Houston, Tex., narrowly misses getting run over by motorcycle driven by Gary Deel (99A) of Yardley, Pa., in a spill during indoor motorcycle races at Philadelphia's spectrum. Hurst escaped injury.

Jacksonville Nips Florida State, 84-82

By BERT ROSENTHAL

If it were up to Jacksonville Coach Tom Wasdin, both the Dolphins and Florida State would be invited to the NCAA's Midwest Regional basketball tournament at Dayton, Ohio March 16. But since there apparently will be room for only one, the NCAA selection committee will have a difficult time choosing between the Southern powerhouses.

Wasdin made a pitch for the two teams Wednesday night, after Jacksonville nipped Florida State 84-82 on Leon Benbow's two free throws with eight seconds remaining.

"We both ought to go," he said.

Hugh Durham, Florida State coach, said, "I appreciate his invitation and we accept it. I think both teams will wind up in post-season tournaments. I am not saying that both will go to the NCAA. I figure Marquette's got to go and that leaves room for only one more."

Marquette an independent like Jacksonville and Florida State, is the nation's second-ranked team with a 15-0 record. Florida State, rated 10th, is 15-3, including a 90-83 victory over Jacksonville in the final of the Sunshine Classic at Jacksonville on Dec. 7.

The unranked Dolphins, who snapped the Seminoles' 10-game winning streak and extended their victory string to six, now are 11-2.

Two independent teams will be picked to join the Big Ten and Ohio Valley Conference champions in the Midwest Regional at Dayton leading to the national final at Los Angeles Mar. 25.

Ernie Fleming paced Jacksonville with 29 points and Benbow added 20. Reggie Royals was high for Florida State with 17.

Meanwhile, fourth-ranked Louisville won its 14th straight game since an opening loss and its fourth in a row in the Missouri Valley Conference, thumping St. Louis 77-59.

The Cardinals, who set a school record for consecutive victories, led only 29-25 at halftime before pulling away in the final 20 minutes.

Jim Price paced the Cardinals with 20 points, 10 during a 22-6 spurt early in the second half.

Frank Costello's two free throws with 1:10 remaining and two more by Marvin Barnes with 33 seconds left enabled Providence to upset seventh-rated Southern Cal 70-66. Ernie DiGregorio sparked the unheralded Friars with 27 points and Barnes scored 21. Providence is 12-2 and the Trojans are 11-3.

Virginia, the No. 8 team showed no rustiness following an 11-day layoff and crushed Johns Hopkins 112-70 for its 13th victory in 14 games. Jim Habgood led the balanced Cavaliers scoring with 19 points.

Ninth-rated Penn became the fifth major college team to win 1000 games, douncing LaSalle 80-66. Penn, 11-2, joined Kentucky, Kansas, Oregon State and St. John's N.Y. in the 1,000-victory club.

"I'm very pleased to be a part of the 1,000th win," said Chuck Daly, Penn's first-year coach. "I haven't been responsible for that many. They have come under some great coaches. I hope I can continue towards the second 1,000."

Dwight Lamar, the nation's leading scorer, fired in 43 points—seven above his average—in leading 12th-ranked Southwestern Louisiana to a 90-67 romp over Trinity Tex. The Rajin Cajuns are 13-1.

Davidson rallied from a 53-45 deficit with 13 minutes remaining and upset 17th-rated Princeton 81-74. John Falconi, Davidson's leading scorer with 23 points, put the Wildcats ahead for good with a three-point play with 9:40 left.

Northern Illinois, ranked 19th, got 23 points from Jerry Zielinski and 20 each from Jim Bradley and Billy Harris, in racing to its 11th consecutive

The Titans' Bill Pleas made a layup and a free throw with 56 seconds left to play to ice the win for Detroit.

Dayton defeated neighboring Miami 66-60 behind the 29-point performance of sophomore guard Donald Smith. Miami, hitting only 36 per cent of its shots, was led by Phil Lumpkin with 14 points.

Urbana clinched a tie for the Mid-Ohio Conference championship by edging Ohio Dominican 80-78. The contest wasn't decided until Urbana's Bill Aikman converted a three-point play with 18 seconds left to play.

Freshman Fletcher netted 32 points in leading Wilmington to a 75-72 Hoosier-Buckeye Conference victory over Findlay.

Akron recorded its 14th win in 16 games by downing Hiram 85-71.

Cage Officials Stay Mum On OSU-Minnesota Brawl

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The Ohio State basketball team has returned home following Wednesday's day-long probe of a brawl which ended the previous night's Big Ten game at Minnesota.

Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke met with athletic directors of the two schools and viewed news films of the events leading up to the melee, but did not issue any statement about the investigation.

Luke Witte and Mark Wagar, two Ohio State players who were held overnight at University of Minnesota Hospitals for observation, returned to Columbus with the team. X-rays showed they had no fractures.

Commissioner Duke had said prior to Wednesday's meetings that he and the athletic directors were "just going to review what happened and look at films." He did not rule out the possibility of action against any players as a result of the skirmish.

The brawl began when Ohio State was leading 50-44 with 36 seconds to play. The game later was called at that point on the clock.

Witte was fouled as he attempted to shoot by Minnesota forward Clyde Turner. The act was ruled a flagrant foul and Turner was ejected.

Gopher forward Corky Taylor said he "tried to pick Witte off the floor after he had gone down following the foul. As I pulled him up, he spat at me."

News films were not able to pick up the alleged spitting incident, but witnesses generally agreed that at that point, Taylor kneed Witte in the groin. Players from both benches streamed onto the floor, along with spectators, and a series of fights broke out.

The 16th-ranked Gophers are 4-1 in Big Ten action and 6th-ranked Ohio State is 4-0, the Big Ten Commissioner victory giving them the league lead.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Big Ten's investigation of a basketball brawl at the Ohio State-Minnesota game Tuesday night moved here today with officials expected to interview OSU coach Fred Taylor and the injured players.

Taylor, meanwhile, was faced with the problem of whether 7-foot junior center Luke Witte and 6-5 senior guard Mark Minor will be able to play in another important Big Ten contest at Michigan Saturday.

Big Ten Commissioner

Wayne Duke and supervisor of officials Herman Rohrig came to Columbus Wednesday after completing what they called an "inconclusive" investigation at Minneapolis.

"Further review of films and additional interviews with various principals will be necessary before any decision can be reached," Duke said.

During the melee, Witte and reserve forward Mark Wager suffered slight concussions and abrasions. Minor sustained a bump on the back of the head and later blacked out in the team locker room after the game.

Cowboys quarterback, display the bronze statuettes they received at Philadelphia as winners of the Maxwell Club's Bert Bell Awards as outstanding college and professional football players, respectively, in 1971.

Nicklaus Heavy Favorite In Williams-San Diego Open

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Jack Nicklaus currently is involved in one of pro golf's greatest winning streaks since Byron Nelson strung together 11 consecutive victories in 1945.

The famed Golden Bear, probably the game's most feared competitor, was a solid favorite to pick up his sixth victory in seven starts when he teed off today in the first round of the $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open.

"I may have played better in the past," mused Nicklaus, just off a week's rest during which he had his 32nd birthday. "But my scoring in relation to the rest of the field, is as good or better than it has ever been."

"I've been playing pretty well ever since we left Hawaii."

That was almost 12 months ago. And in that time Nicklaus has finished ninth or better in all but one of his starts.

He may have found the emotional spur he needed in the recent success of Lee Trevino, who is challenging Nicklaus as the game's premier performer.

Nicklaus responded by setting a single-season money winning record of $244,000. He won four of his last five starts last season then won his only outing this year, beating Johnny Miller in a playoff for the Bing Crosby national pro am.

"Putting will be the key here," Nicklaus said of the 7,011 yard, par 72 Torrey Pines layout. "And I four-putted once during the pro am."

Nicklaus said he now plans to play in the Hawaiian Open next week, although he hasn't yet filed an official entry.

"I'll play about the same number of tournaments this year, 25."

SPORTS Highlights

TOKYO (AP) — The International Olympic Committee's eligibility commission was holding a secret meeting here today to review the amateur status of competitors entered in the 11th Winter Olympic Games opening in Sapporo, northern Japan, Feb. 3.

But the IOC Secretariat declined to give any information on where the commission, headed by Chairman Hugh Weir of Australia, was meeting for the second day, when the meeting began and when it ended or was to end.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sure the guys were tired. New York Rangers Coach Emile Francis said, "but they didn't show it in the game."

The Rangers, particularly Jean Ratelle, Ted Irvine and Rod Gilbert, looked very much awake on the ice Wednesday night, leading a New York attack that overwhelmed the Buffalo Sabres 5-1. In the night's other National Hockey League action, St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 2-1 and Los Angeles turned back Toronto 5-3.

Cleveland Faces Water Plant Crisis

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland officials say that the uninsured, aging steam boilers at a near west side water pumping plant could break down at any time leaving 200,000 homes without water.

The city last year rejected a low bid to modernize the Division Avenue Pumping Station because the city's contract compliance office alleged the low-bidding firm had "inadequate minority employment."

Ohioans Win Top 3 Spots In Racing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohioans swept all three Universal Driving Rating System championships in the 1971 harness racing season, the U.S. Trotting Association said today.

Dick Buxton of Urbana, Ohio nosed out Gene Riegle of Greenville, Ohio, in the major, 300-and-more starts category with a batting average of .483.

Riegle had .461, Stanley Dancer of New Egypt, N.J., finished third at .444, the 11th straight year he has ranked among the top three.

Howard Bessinger of Hamilton, Ohio, who guided Speedy Crown to a Hambletonian victory, captured the 200-299 division with a .423 percentage. Second was Joe Hennessey of Charlottesville, Prince Edward Island, at .413.

Bob Cheney of Richwood, Ohio, nipped Sid Spencer of Pomeroy, Ohio, in the 100-199 class with a UDRS of .517 to Spencer's .517.

Joseph M. Offutt, 18, of Woodbury, Md., was third in the 100-199 division with a .506 percentage.

Julie Eisenhower Helps Girl Scouts

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Julie Nixon Eisenhower says she has received a total of $83,000 for her original crewel stitchery designs which a women's magazine marketed.

The money was designated for the Girl Scouts for use in low income areas and the President's daughter was here Tuesday to distribute a grant to the local Girl Scout Council.

The San Antonio group received about $5,000 and matched it with local funds raised in Girl Scout cookie drives.

REMEMBER WHEN — During the early part of the century the V. A. Brown Hay Co. of Circleville shipped hay all over the United States. In 1917 five wagons loaded with

Grooms, Joyce Redmond, George Hutchinson and William Bond. Worley Storts, who lives on Route 5, and Vincent Brown were the principal owners of the hay company. Others with an interest in the company were George Morris and Charles Rife. Storts notes the bales weighed from 130 to 150 pounds each. The consignment in the photo was shipped to Winston Salem, N. C. by rail. All of the mules in the photo were purchased from Cary Short, father of Forrest Short, Route 2, who was one of the largest horse dealers in the United States.

ed a vice president of the 45,000-member parent union. Scott also inherited Tough Tony's feud with Gleason, and is frequently mentioned as a challenger to Gleason for the union presidency.

From 1814's headquarters at 313 Court St. in Brooklyn, Scott, his relatives and associates rule over at least eight other ILA locals. Included are two which were headed by Joseph Colozzo until his death Nov. 27. Colozzo also was identified in the Justice Department report as a Gambino captain.

Tall, suave college-educated and politically active Scott's political alliances cross party lines. In 1961 he was involved in a citizens committee for Arthur Levitt who was running in a primary contest for mayor against incumbent Robert Wagner a fellow Democrat. In 1966, Scott headed a labor committee for Democrat Frank O'Connor who was running for governor. Scott supported Lindsay as a Republican and has continued backing him as a Democrat.

His first association with the Lindsay administration was in 1965 when he was named a director of the New York City Corp., a firm formed under the aegis of Lindsay's Department of Commerce as a broker for federal Small Business Administration loans.

That same year Scott family interests began a series of financial dealings with a bank in which the ILA had deposits of $2 million controlled by Scott, according to sworn testimony taken by the New York State Joint Legislative Committee on Crime. A vice president of the bank was Meade Esposito, head of the Brooklyn Democratic organization.

The following year, 1966, Lindsay appointed Scott to the New York City Council on Port Development and Promotion, an official city policy-making body headed by Lindsay. Scott is still a member.

"Mr. Scott . . . is as vitally concerned and informed as the other members about the port needs," Lindsay said of his reasons for Scott's appointment.

While the Justice Department report naming Scott as a Mafia captain was not made public until 1969, a New York City newspaper reported in July 1966 that Scott accompanied Toto Anastasio to a meeting in Utica, N.Y., with Joe Falcone, reputed rackets boss of that city.

Scott refused to discuss whether he went to see Falcone but Anastasio testified under oath two years later that both of them did. He said it was on a personal matter.

That same year Scott was subpoenaed by a federal grand jury investigating mob rule of the waterfront. No indictments were returned.

PCMHA Has January Meet

The January meeting of Pickaway County Mental Health Association was held at St. Philip's Parish hall with Mary Ann Willoughby presiding.

After a discussion of the budget, led by the treasurer Mary May Yates the decision was made to increase the allocation to the State organization and to maintain the past year's increase for the program for Mentally Retarded.

Ed Holmes, vice president and program director, elaborated on "Case Study of Joe" a new set of six film strips with companion records. The decision was made for the organization to purchase these for use by guidance counselors and other community groups to help with drug-related problems.

Communications were read from four state institutions expressing appreciation for cooperation with "Operation Santa."

Mrs. Marcus Lackey was appointed as group representative to Community Service Council meetings.

Mrs. Willoughby announced that Mrs. Lowell Toland had attended the January meeting at Columbus State Institute as representative to Volunteer Service Council, and that at the recent Executive Session, the decision was made to have the Association meet at 3 p.m. the fourth Monday of each month except July and August.

The program concern was "Alcoholics Anonymous." This group was explained to be a fellowship of men and women who are willing to share problems for mutual benefit.

Each one present received "Just For Today" a list of ten challenging guides for living.

State Tax Changes Puzzle Treasurers

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—A lengthy meeting by tax officials from 22 counties Wednesday failed to clear up the confusion surrounding the 10 per cent tax reduction and the graduated homestead exemption provided to elderly homeowners under the new state tax law.

The conclusion reached after nearly three hours of discussions by members of the Northeast Ohio County Treasurer's Association was that each county treasurer must proceed with his own interpretation of the law.

Gambling Influx Being Probed

ELYRIA Ohio (AP)—A special Lorain County grand jury was to convene here today to investigate an alleged infiltration of outside gamblers into the county.

Reliable sources have said outside racketeers are attempting to gain a foothold in the numbers game in Oberlin after having operated in Elyria.

Sources said the operation began in Elyria, but moved to Oberlin when Elyria Police Chief M. C. Flood let it be known he would not tolerate its existence in the city.

Two Accidents Investigated By Sheriff's Office

Cecil Andrews, 53, 117 Stahl Ave., suffered slight bruises as he fell while attempting to stop his run-away car 9:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Andrews parked his car on the south side of McCulloch Ave. headed east. As he was returning to the vehicle, it started backing under its own power. He tried in vain to stop the car as it made a left turn and circled through a yard before coming to rest against the right side of a house trailer.

The trailer, owned by Gladys Wiggins, 54 McCulloch Ave., was slightly damaged on its right side. Andrews' car sustained minor rear end damage.

The accident was investigated by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Donald Thompson.

Ruth Gulick, 26, Route 2, Circleville, was treated and released at Berger Hospital for injuries sustained 4:55 p.m. Wednesday when her car ran off the Florence Chapel Road.

She was driving west on the Florence Chapel Road when her car went off the right side of the roadway for 51 feet. She regained control of the car and brought it back to the road surface for 75 feet, but it went off the right side again, crashed into a South Central Electric pole and continued 179 feet into a field before coming to a stop.

The accident was investigated by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy David Cooper.

Blame Derailment On Broken Rail

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The cause of a train derailment last Sunday in Clarksville was caused by a broken rail, the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio reported today.

John T. Gordon, commission director of transportation, said an investigation showed the 34-car train stopped short of the Vermillion River spilling some muratic acid into the ground 50 feet from the river, but not directly into the water.

Men have been writing checks for more than 2,700 years.
